Chinese in Thrust Forward Adding to Japanese Disaster

Forces Intended to Cover Retreat Destroyed—Immense Damage Inflicted

CHUNGKING, China, June 1 (AP).—The Chinese, expanding one of their greatest victories of the war, were thrusting forward tonight over the Central China front, enveloping Japanese troops falling back in North Hunan Province and destroying the Japanese 116th Regiment and cavalry and engineering forces which had sought to cover the enemy's retreat in Southern Hupeh Province.

The invader, suffering as well from extraordinary powerful Allied air action, which was officially declared to have driven him from the sky over the Hunan-Hupeh frontier region, was being thrust back generally along a 300-mile arc running from the Tungting Lake region of Northern Hunan westward around the main Japanese base at Ichang and then northeastward to the Hupeh-Honan border area.

Southwest of Ichang, five Japanese divisions earlier had been declared "completely routed"—fatally encircled and erased as a military force.

In North Hunan, Japanese troops who retreated toward Wang-Chi-chang have been surrounded, and the battle of annihilation is proceeding.

The Allied air forces were said to have been in strong action along the Hupeh-Hunan border, having "inflicted immense damage on the enemy."

In Shansi Province the Japanese were said to have hurled more than 10,000 reinforcements into a counter-attack west of the Taiheng Mountains. An enemy advance against violent resistance was conceded, but 800 Japanese casualties were reported during the day.

Fighting Flares On Russian Front

LONDON, June 1 (CP).—Thrusts by air, artillery and ground troops sparked action on the Russian front today, bring death to nearly 1,000 Germans, the Soviet midnight communique reported, while a news broadcast told of engagements in the Caucasus in which Nazi counter-attacks were beaten back.

The communique, recorded by the Soviet radio monitor, said simply that "fighting continues" northeast of Novorossisk in the Caucasus but a Tass Agency broadcast declared that several charges by German infantry and tommy-gunners were smashed there with "heavy losses" to the enemy.

Fighting still was flaring at the German Kuban foothold but its scale was not disclosed.

The German radio, in a report of Monday fighting in the Kuban, claimed a village was captured from the Russians in the eastern sector and held against Russian counter-attacks while "German Stukas all day long attacked Soviet reserves and batteries."

A later Moscow broadcast said Russian flyers shot down eleven of twenty-four German planes which attempted to raid the town of Shchigry in the Kursk region today. "One enemy plane was forced to land in our territory," said the broadcast, recorded here by the Soviet monitor. "We lost one plane but the pilot is safe."

Four hundred Germans were killed in fighting on the Western

Freezes All Stocks of Anthracite

Western Canada Not Affected

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP).—The Munitions Department announced tonight that Coal Controller J. McG. Stewart has issued an order freezing all stocks of anthracite coal in Canada, and all stocks of bituminous coal in Ontario and Quebec.

The departmental announcement said the action, similar to steps already taken in the United States, has been taken to protect Canada's coal position. The order, which provides regulations to assure equitable delivery of available stocks to meet essential requirements, does not in any way affect the delivery of Canadian coal in the Maritime provinces or in Western Canada.

Householders and other small consumers will be able to obtain sufficient anthracite or bituminous coal to provide for cooking or other essential needs without permit, the announcement said, and provision is made for the immediate delivery of coal to maintain emergency services.

CANNOT BE SOLD WITHOUT PERMIT

The provisions of the order affecting delivery set out that no coal may be sold or delivered without permit from the coal controller except in three specified instances:

1. Bituminous coal may be supplied without permit to any consumer where essential heating services cannot be maintained without such coal, but the amount delivered must not exceed ten days' supply, and must be reported immediately to the coal controller.

2. Anthracite coal may be delivered to any consumer without permit in one-ton quantities where the consumer has less than two tons in stock.

3. Bituminous coal may be supplied without permit to any consumer whose annual consumption is not more than twenty-five tons.

All industrial consumers of coal, including railways, are permitted to draw upon their own stocks for their own consumption, but in Ontario and Quebec, are not allowed to sell or deliver any of their stored coal to other parties without specific permit from the coal controller.

In announcing the order, Mr. Stewart said:

"In effect, this order means that all stocks of coal in the central areas of Canada are held at the disposition of the coal controller, and may only be distributed to meet essential needs as he may direct. It is essential that Canadian citizens co-operate in restricting their orders for coal to the bare minimum necessary for the maintenance of essential services."

Aid Flows to the Fighting French

Honors and Decorations Go to 625 Canadians in The King's Birthday List

Civilians Get 285, Army 132, Air Force 122 And Navy Eighty-Six; Fifty-Seven Women Named

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP).—Honors and decorations for 625 persons, service and civilian, were announced tonight in the King's birthday honors list for Canada. Outstanding war service in a variety of fields—philanthropy, long years of work in the civil service, bravery at sea and in crises of fire, explosion, robbery and imminent drowning—was recognized in the list which included the first large distribution of awards to Canadian civilians since Canadian policy on awards in orders of chivalry received a new interpretation.

There were 285 decorations for civilians, 132 for army personnel, 122 for members of the air force and eighty-six for members of the navy.

The naval list was the only one of the three service lists which contained "operational awards" for bravery in combat operations.

The army and air force lists contained the names of men and women who distinguished themselves in higher commands, in administration, and in training and organization work.

FIFTY-SEVEN WOMEN NAMED

A total of fifty-seven Canadian women was named in the lists, thirty-seven civilians, fourteen army nurses, two naval and two air force nurses, one member of the Canadian Women's Army Corps and one of the women's division of the R.C.A.F.

The civilian list marked a partial fulfilment of the recommendations of the parliamentary committee which investigated the question of honors and decorations last year and decided Canada's ban on titles should not apply to memberships in British orders of chivalry which did not carry titles.

The highest awards conferred in the list were companionship in the Order of the Bath, granted to nine senior officers, and companionship in the Order of St. Michael and St. George, granted to fifteen civilians.

The honor roll of the civilians recalls many phases of the war effort.

Britons on Honors List

LONDON, June 1 (CP).—Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding, who commanded the R.A.F. heroes of the Battle of Britain in 1940, was created a Baron in the King's birthday honors list published today.

Only one new baron was created. The list included two new Baronets, thirty-two Knight Bachelors and two Companions of Honor besides hundreds of awards to members of the armed forces. More than 3,000 of all ranks were mentioned in dispatches.

Air Commodore A. C. Critchley, Calgary-born member of the House of Commons, was made Commander of the Order of the British Empire. Better known in Canada as Brig.-Gen. Critchley, he was given his present title at the start of the war. He has played a leading part in maintaining the steady flow of air force personnel for whose training he is responsible.

Air Marshal Richard Hallam Peck was made Knight Commander of the Bath.

Among Privy Councillors named was Joseph Westwood, joint under-secretary of state of Scotland.

Named on the list of baronets were J. M. Barbour, former Ulster Finance Minister, and Sir John Fraser, eminent Scottish surgeon.

Companions of Honor named were Lord Snell, deputy leader of the House of Lords, and F. W. Hives, Rolls-Royce engine designer, who was honored for his services to the aircraft industry.

Among those on whom knighthood was conferred were Dr. Harold Spencer Jones, royal astronomer, and A. H. Maxwell, tobacco controller.

HIGH-RANKING OFFICERS HONORED

Among the high-ranking officers of the army, navy and air force to become Knight Commander of the Bath are Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the Home Fleet, known

Submarines Sink Seven Enemy Ships

U.S. Troops on Attu Kill 400 Japanese

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP).—Destruction of seven Japanese ships by American submarines, striking at the enemy's supply lines, was announced by the United States Navy today as land fighting on Attu moved toward a final clean-up of the remaining scattered pockets of enemy resistance.

A communique disclosed that more than 400 Japanese were killed in a single night's fighting. This clean-up in the Chichagof Harbor section apparently left only minute groups of enemy soldiers to be cleared out of the northeastern end of Attu around Cape Khlebnikof, to make the conquest of the island complete.

A second bulletin reported on submarine operations, announcing a destroyer sunk and the following auxiliary vessels also destroyed: One large tanker, one large cargo ship, two medium-sized transports. In addition a large tanker was listed as damaged and probably sunk.

These successful submarine actions raised to 240 the number of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American undersea craft in the war to date. The total consists of 169 ships sunk, twenty-seven probably sunk and forty-four damaged.

Lae Blasted With Heavy Bomb Tonnage

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 3 (Wednesday) (CP).—United States heavy bombers dropped thirty-six tons of bombs on Lae yesterday, duplicating the tonnage hurled on that New Guinea Huon Gulf base the day before, the High Command announced today.

The raid was made during daylight hours and no planes were lost.

North of Lae on the Huon Peninsula at Finschhafen, a heavy bomber shot down five and possibly six of sixteen Japanese fighters which attacked the bomber.

Lae, which has a big airdrome, now has taken 100 tons of bombs within less than a week. Twenty-eight tons of bombs were dropped on it in a raid last Thursday.

Lae is only twenty miles north of Salamaua, toward which Allied ground troops have been infiltrating from the south to positions within less than fifteen miles of the latter town.

At Mandang, another supply base for Lae between it and Wewak, long-range fighters strafed the coastal area, today a communique reported.

U-Boats Fail, Says Spanish Authority

MADRID, June 1 (AP).—Axis submarines have failed to dominate the seas despite a heavy loss inflicted upon United Nations shipping, Capt. Luis Carreror Blanco, sub-secretary to the presidency of the Spanish Government and for years right-hand man to Gen. Francisco Franco, declared today. The British fleet has completely blocked Axis ocean traffic, he said.

Resigns as Governor and Joins Army

Marcel Peyrouton Ready to Fight

ALGIERS, June 1 (AP).—General Charles de Gaulle today accepted the resignation of Marcel Peyrouton as Governor-General of Algeria.

Peyrouton asked to be assigned as a captain in the French infantry to prove he was willing to fight for the redemption of France.

De Gaulle then named the Governor, whose appointment had aroused much controversy among De Gaulle supporters, to the position he asked.

Peyrouton, who held many colonial officer under the French Republic since 1930 and was once Marshal Petain's Minister of the Interior in Vichy, was charged by opponents with being "too conservative".

Peyrouton was the first of three prominent French African officials whose resignations have been expected since the new French executive committee was set up yesterday under both General De Gaulle and General Henri Giraud.

The others are Pierre Boisson, Governor-General of French West Africa, and General Auguste Nogues, Commander in French Morocco.

De Gaulle's Fighting French National Committee had objected to Peyrouton and some other North African officials as being "pro-Vichy."

Disclose Third Raid on Coast

PORT ORFORD, Ore., June 1 (AP).—The story of the third enemy attack on the Oregon coast—a vain attempt by a plane, presumably Japanese, to start a forest fire—was disclosed today.

The attack occurred September 28 last year, but was not announced for military reasons. The Western Defence Command cleared the story today after forest officials reported the raid in Congressional testimony.

A Forest Service fire lookout had a ringside seat for the attack.

Lauren S. Giebner, whose tower commands a vast stand of Douglas fir east of this seacoast village, heard an airplane motor early September 28, saw a flash through a fog haze, but was unable to see the plane. Two hours later he spotted a fire, which was controlled without difficulty.

This was the second attack in September. On September 9, a tiny seaplane dropped two incendiary bombs near Brookings. The first attack was on June 21. Shells were dropped, probably from a submarine's guns, near Fort Sevens, at the mouth of the Columbia River.

Stormy Word Battle Rages As Strike of 500,000 Miners Cripples U.S. Coal Industry

Ickes Urges Lewis to Act, Accuses Powerful Operators

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP).—A walkout by 500,000 miners paralyzed the United States coal industry tonight while a stormy word battle raged in Washington over the negotiations in the wage controversy.

Interior Secretary Ickes, as fuel administrator, called the work stoppage a "strike against the Government" and asked that John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, order the miners back to work. Ickes also accused a "few powerful operators" of opposing a compromise and demanded that both parties to the dispute do everything necessary to reach a speedy conclusion.

The operators made known that they had telegraphed the War Labor Board that the United Mine Workers were "adamant in their demand for $2 a day, no more, no less," and had added that "the operators await further directions from the board."

Lewis replied that the operators' statement was "a flagrant misrepresentation of fact," and asserted the miners had proposed a temporary agreement providing for $1.50 a day, portal to portal pay, while a commission decided the actual length of underground travel time. He proposed to make the $1.50 payment retroactive to April 1.

SAYS OPERATORS WERE OPPOSED

The operators, Lewis said, objected both to the amount of money and the retroactive features. There were reports last night that the operators had offered to pay for forty-eight minutes' travel time a day.

Lewis said Ickes had advanced the idea for a commission study of underground travel time with a temporary agreement meantime. He said Ickes had not suggested a specific amount of payment.

Fighters Bear Brunt Of Attack

Light Jabs Made At English Coast

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—Fighter planes maintained the Allied aerial pressure on Western Europe today as heavy bombers of the R.A.F. remained inactive for the second straight night after closing out their busiest week of the war.

In offensive sweeps across the Channel, strong forces of R.A.F. fighters scored a five-to-one victory over enemy planes and shot up five German supply ships.

Two Focke-Wulf 190's and three Messerschmitt 109's were shot down by the British fighter pilots who lost only one of their own planes.

There was no immediate announcement of the land targets attacked by the fighters.

Over France, two Messerschmitt 109's fell victim to fighters of a Canadian wing. Flying Officer R. D. Bowen, of Edmonton, shared one with an English pilot, Wing Cmdr. J. E. Johnson. The second Messerschmitt was credited to the wing as a whole.

NAZIS MAKE LIGHT ATTACKS

Germany's dwindling air force made light jabs at the southeastern and southern coastal regions of England this afternoon, but British fighters knocked down six of twelve Focke-Wulf fighter-bombers and two more probably were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

Other fighter-bombers raided a south coast village where a number of casualties were caused by bomb bursts on a hotel and other buildings.

Two enemy planes dropped bombs in London's suburbs shortly after midnight.

Four persons were killed and three injured when the London raiders hit a suburban shelter with a bomb and six others were reported killed in another suburb.

An Air Ministry spokesman declared in a B.B.C. broadcast to Europe meanwhile that 16 per cent of all German planes raiding Britain since last January 1 have been destroyed.

German claims of "heavy retaliation" for the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. saturation raids on the Continent were disputed by the spokesman.

Since January 1 there have been only twelve raids with as many as twenty or more planes.

BULLETINS

ENGLISH TOWN RAIDED

LONDON, June 2 (Wednesday) (CP).—A single German raider swooped low over an East Anglian coastal village early today, dropping bombs which damaged a cottage and injured one of the occupants.

CALLS SITUATION GRAVE

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP).—Calling the war situation "extremely grave," Premier Hideki Tojo has ordered a major overhaul of the Japanese industrial structure, a Tokio broadcast, recorded by the Office of War Information, said tonight. "The demands for increased production of vital war materials have become extremely urgent and important," the broadcast said.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, June 1—Anxiety reigns in every Axis country today. People are wondering where the Allied attacks will be launched, says The Times' Istanbul correspondent.

What may happen in Italy will influence Hungary especially, and it is believed in Budapest that Premier Kallay's Rome visit two months ago was to ascertain the eventual prospects of peace.

Many Magyars believe a secret understanding has been reached between Hungary and Italy for common action when the war situation becomes desperate for both countries. The Nazis have been greatly irritated by these secret discussions in which they have not shared.

The Hungarians are also trying to get close to the Turkish Government, which is receiving much adulation from the new Italian ambassador.

Admiral Horthy has refused to allow a German military headquarters to be established in Budapest, or to send Magyar troops back to the Russian front. He also tried to prevent the Germans using the Danube, says The Times' correspondent on the Italian frontier, but failed. However, he has denied the use of Hungary's railway system to the German high command.

More raids by the Allied air force on Italy are yielding a heavy toll of damage. One hundred United States Fortresses, largest American force yet available, have hammered Naples. Other Allied attacks on Italian airdromes, says The Times' Algiers correspondent, brought out the significant fact that unless the Axis is deliberately scaling back its defensive strength these operations can be continued indefinitely, with negligible losses to crews and machines.

The Royal Air Force maintains unceasing blows on the Pantelleria naval base.

The challenge by trades unions to the Government over the Trades Congress Council's decision to admit Postal Workers' Union to affiliation despite the Trades Dispute Act passed by the Baldwin Cabinet after the coal mining lockout and general strike of 1926, will jeopardize the position of individual workers, says The Times' parliamentary correspondent, for he or she will be liable to dismissal from the Civil Service.

Premier Churchill has been repeatedly approached by Labor Ministers in the Cabinet to amend

Food Conference May Bring New International System

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 1 (CP).—A new system of international collaboration and mutual security may evolve from the deliberations of the United Nations Food Conference here, displacing the League of Nations formed after the first Great War.

A hint of this came today in the recommendations of one section of the conference, advising all governments represented here that freedom from want is impossible to attain "without effective collaboration among nations."

The resolution, perhaps the most positive warning against isolationism and narrow nationalism registered by any international conference in years, has been approved by key delegates and its acceptance is regarded as only a routine matter.

It reads as follows:

"Whereas freedom from want cannot be achieved without freedom from fear;

"Policies of aggression and the fear of aggression have induced the uneconomic employment of human and material resources, the development of uneconomic industries, the imposition of barriers to international trade, the introduction of discriminatory trade practices and the expenditure of huge sums on armaments;

"These obstructions to a progressively expanding economy cannot be removed without effective collaboration among nations;

"The United Nations conference on food and agriculture recommends that the governments and authorities here represented, by virtue of their determination to achieve freedom from want for all people in all lands, affirm the principle of mutual responsibility and co-ordinated action to establish such conditions of international security as will make possible an expanding and balanced world economy;

"That these governments and authorities take in concert all necessary measures to secure the application of this principle and the achievement of this objective."

The resolution was accepted without argument by the United States delegation. It was approved enthusiastically by the British, Russian, Chinese and other representatives.

Airdromes of Italy Given Heavy Blows

Keep Up Siege Of Pantelleria

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 1 (AP).—Italy's Foggia airdrome, where Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, and other well-known American flyers trained in the first Great War, was given its third heavy pounding in four days yesterday by American heavy bombers. Other Allied bombers continued assaults on the island outposts of Sardinia and Pantelleria.

Flying unescorted to Foggia, an aviation and railway centre, eighty miles northeast of Naples and on the far side of the Italian Peninsula, the bombers blanketed the airdrome with bombs.

"Large numbers of enemy aircraft were destroyed on the ground," an official announcement said. Photographs showed that two hangars and barracks were damaged severely. The bombers also blasted railroad facilities, leaving freight yards, stations, box cars and warehouses a mass of tangled wreckage.

The Americans shot down four enemy planes, two of them at Foggia, and lost only two of their own craft.

Waves of fighters and bombers kept up the aerial siege of Pantelleria, striking at the main defences of the tiny island, while bomb-carrying fighters made a series of attacks on Sardinia.

Several bombs hit the Cantarina power station on Sardinia, causing explosions and dense smoke. At Porto Ponte di Romano, a 400-foot merchant ship was blown apart by direct hits.

Portage La Prairie Has Fatal Fire

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., June 1 (CP).—One man is dead and several other persons were assisted to safety when fire ravaged the Anderson Block here today, causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Called at his home shortly after the outbreak occurred, George Macdonald, proprietor of the Portage Hotel, adjoining the Anderson Block, hurried to the scene to warn his guests. Exhausted from the exertion, Mr. Macdonald collapsed and failed to respond to medical aid. It is believed death was due to a heart attack.

Jack Macdonald, who starred with the Portage Terriers, Dominion hockey champions of 1942, is a son. Among those assisted to safety were the mother of W. R. Sexsmith, M.L.A. for Portage la Prairie, and Helen Bruce, eighteen, (an invalid). Cause of the outbreak is unknown.

Seek Exemption From Health Act

On the grounds of religious freedom, Christian Scientists in Canada yesterday requested a special parliamentary committee in Ottawa to exempt them from the operation of the proposed Dominion-wide national contributory health insurance plan.

The request was presented by Reay C. van der Voort, of Toronto, Christian Science committee on publication for Ontario, and James W. Fulton, former committee. They were introduced by Hon. A. W. Roebuck, member for Toronto-Trinity.

The exemption requested by Mr. van der Voort is substantially the same as that incorporated in the British Columbia Health Insurance Act of 1936. Mr. van der Voort said that Christian Scientists do not oppose social security legislation as such. He pointed out, however, that in order permanently to improve human conditions, legislation must respect religious liberty and the right of freedom of the person. Citizens should not be compelled, he said, to submit to a form of treatment contrary to their conscientious religious principles.

Mr. Fulton called attention to the fact that Christian Science has been established in Canada for over half a century, and said that its claims to heal disease, want and fear, as well as sin, through prayer or spiritual means, have been verified in the experience of thousands of men and women and substantiated in the courts, and that the practice of Christian Science has long been recognized by law.

Norman S. Fraser Former Head of Shrine, Passes

A prominent member of the Masonic fraternity and illustrious potentate of Gizeh Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine in 1940, Norman St. Clair Fraser, sixty-nine years old, 114 Alston Street, died on Monday at 999 Burdett Avenue after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Fraser was born in Windsor, Ont., and came to Victoria as a small child in 1876. He moved to New Westminster, where he received his education. He learned railroading with the Canadian Pacific, and was with that company for twenty-three years as telegrapher and agent in various towns. Then he was employed with the Grand Trunk Pacific until that railroad was taken over by the Canadian National Railways. Returning to Victoria eighteen years ago, he served with the Canadian National as transportation assistant until he retired on pension in May, 1939, due to ill health.

Mr. Fraser had been a valued member of the Shrine Temple for many years and was elected illustrious potentate several years ago. Owing to illness he was installed in office at a private ceremony held at his residence. He was a member of Confederation Lodge A.F. & A.M.

For many years Mr. Fraser was an ardent churchman and was a member of St. Saviour's Anglican Church, Victoria West. He was well known throughout the community.

Mr. Fraser is survived by two brothers, James D. Fraser, Victoria, and William C. Fraser, Whitehorse, Y.T., and three sisters, Mrs. H. F. Morris, Vancouver; Mrs. A. D. Muirhead, Whitehorse, Y.T., and Mrs. C. D. Peel, New Westminster.

Funeral service will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park, where the Masonic burial rites will be conducted.

Hunting Lodge Case Decided Against Slater

VANCOUVER, June 1 (CP).—Concluding a Supreme Court trial, Mr. Justice Sidney Smith today awarded A. W. Williamson judgment for $1,600 against George E. Slater, of Nanaimo, and ordered that they are each entitled to 2,500 shares in British Columbia-California Hunting Club, Ltd.

His Lordship also held that Amy Slater, wife of the defendant, is not entitled to any share in the company and must transfer shares in her name to conform with the judgment. In addition the defendants were directed to transfer to the club any of the club property held by them or as trustees.

The plaintiff's claim for an accounting was refused.

A second action of Williamson in which he claimed a mandamus to compel the defendants to hold a shareholders' meeting of the company, was dismissed.

Coleman Certain Of Future of Sea And Land Routes

EDMONTON, June 1 (CP).—D. C. Coleman, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway arrived here tonight in the course of a Western inspection trip and expressed the belief that neither the railway nor the steamship will be outmoded, despite the great strides of air travel.

In an interview he said it was only natural that a great deal of travel would take to the air after the war, but "we are confident that neither railways nor steamships are outmoded and that in the economy of the new world they will continue to be a very vital element."

Accompanied by officials of the company—W. A. Mather, Winnipeg, vice-president of Western lines; Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Montreal; Morris W. Wilson, Montreal; S. G. Blaylock, of Trail, B.C., and L. J. Belnap, Montreal—Mr. Coleman will leave here tomorrow over the Northern Alberta Railway for Dawson Creek, B.C., southern terminus of the Alaska Highway.

The party will return Friday, make a side trip to northerly Waterways, Alta., and then go East.

Col. W. H. K. Anderson Dies in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 1 (CP).—Lt.-Col. William Harold Kerr Anderson, D.S.O., seventy-one, who served as a medical officer in two world wars and was connected with Canada's armed forces for fifty-two years, died in Vancouver yesterday. A full military funeral will be conducted Thursday.

Colonel Anderson, who retired from the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in 1933 after a distinguished military career, came back to serve in this war as acting district medical officer, M.D. 11, stationed in Vancouver. Later he commanded Esquimalt Military Hospital at Work Point Barracks, until he retired again in 1941.

Colonel Anderson, who from 1900 to 1908 was assistant quarantine officer at William Head, was born in Montreal and attended the University of Toronto. His widow survives.

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP).—Trade Minister MacKinnon said today in the House of Commons that the only Canadian Government connection with United Kingdom beer purchases for North Africa was in the granting of export permits for the purchases by a branch of his department.

Tom Reid (Lib., New Westminster) inquired about a reported statement by a clergyman in Vancouver that heavy shipments of Canadian beer to Africa had been made.

Mr. MacKinnon said such beer had been bought by the United Kingdom and carried on ships under United Kingdom control.

TEST OF U.S. GOVERNMENT'S POWER

The Government of the United States "took possession" a month ago of all those coal mines that are at present affected by the strike or stoppage of work, so that this means that the miners are at issue with the Administration. When, early in May, the previous stoppage occurred, President Roosevelt appointed Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, "to take possession" of the mines, at the same time instructing Mr. Stimson, the Secretary of War, to provide any military protection that might be needed.

What is happening now in the United States is of very serious import. The most powerful union in the country is at loggerheads with the Government. There are 450,000 bituminous and 80,000 anthracite workers who are members of the United Mine Workers. Their president is Mr. John L. Lewis, who is a bitter political opponent of Mr. Roosevelt. What the miners are seeking is an increase of $2 a day in the basic wage and other adjustments. The argument preferred by Mr. Lewis is that "increases in the cost of living have run tragically beyond the miners' increase in wages." An answer to this has been given by Mr. Prentiss Brown, the head of the Office of Price Administration. He says that "even accepting the full ration of increase, as stated by the unions, wages have risen more than the cost of living." A Washington correspondent points out that Mr. Lewis is "lifting" at the whole wage structure and that if he should be successful every other labor leader in the country will demand the same treatment for all the unions, "or will be broken by those unions."

The Government of the United States has never been challenged in quite the same way. If the present stoppage of work should continue it will effect a substantial diminution in the output of war materials, may, indeed, cripple the whole war effort because so much is dependent on the production of coal. President Roosevelt told the miners a month ago that "every idle miner is directly and individually obstructing the war effort" and that the stoppage of work involves a gamble with the lives of American soldiers and sailors." The paradox of the situation that has now arisen is that, after Pearl Harbor, the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the Railroad Brotherhoods gave a positive assurance that there would be no strike, as long as the war lasted. The problem now is, in a way, a test of the ability of the Government at Washington to keep not only the coal mines, but the factories, power plants and railways operating at full capacity.

LAVISH OUTLAYS

There has always been a good deal of curiosity about the cost to the country of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, that organization, or offshoot of the Federal Government which more than any other indicates the spread of the tentacles of bureaucracy. Numerous questions have been asked in Parliament on the subject, but it has been difficult to obtain an overall picture. From information he has received through answers to questions, Mr. J. D. Diefenbaker (Lake Centre) has assembled the following data, and its accuracy has not been impugned in any quarter. Here are the figures, showing some of the expenditures up to March 31, 1943:

Salaries, honoraria and living allowances	$6,714,240.67
Traveling expenses	706,209.56
Printing, stationery and office equipment	1,074,462.84
Advertising, excluding radio programmes	512,639.44
Radio programmes	221,851.66
All other expenditures	1,129,220.53
Rentals	529,141.00
Office furniture and equipment	215,941.07
Alterations, repairs and maintenance of offices	108,145.74

Supplementary to the foregoing information has been supplied to Parliament showing that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has 3,723 employees who are receiving salaries of $2,000 and under; 683 receiving from $2,000 to $3,000; 174 receiving from $3,000 to $4,000; eighty-three receiving from $4,000 to $5,000, and forty-three receiving over $5,000.

The foregoing, it appears, are only some of the expenditures for which the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is responsible. Mr. Diefenbaker says that "there is no way in which we can get the full information." Then he went on to say: "The examination of expenditures is not a question of partisanship; it is a question of the right of the people of Canada to have full and complete information on all these subjects; to be assured that we carefully scrutinize expenditures. We have the right to have made available to us an opportunity to present examples of extravagance or waste to the Government and, what is equally important, the right to ask the Government to act thereon."

Mr. Diefenbaker deprecated the attitude too often taken in the House of Commons of resenting criticism. "Which really is not directed against the Government but which is designed to improve conditions." He expressed the belief that if there were greater co-operation between the Government and the Opposition in connection with expenditures and their scrutiny "the result would be a saving of millions of dollars for the people of Canada." In this connection he recalled how Mr. Winston Churchill, when in March, 1939, he was criticized for bringing before the Government of the day things that he thought should be changed, said:

"Why should I mislead the nation? What is the use of Parliament if it is not the place where true statements can be brought before the people? What is the use of sending members to Parliament to say popular things at the moment, and saying things merely to give satisfaction to the Government whips, and by cheering loudly every ministerial platitude? What is the value of our parliamentary institutions, and how can our parliamentary doctrines survive if constituencies tried to return only tame, docile and subservient members who tried to stamp out every form of independent judgment?"

HOUSEKEEPING MONEY

A recent court case in Great Britain, briefly mentioned in cabled news, has caused many misgivings and much umbrage among the female sex. The decision was to the effect that if a wife is able to save money from housekeeping, that money is due to her husband. The application was made in the Oxford County Court, a man claiming £103 which stood to his wife's credit in a co-operative society. It was tried under the Married Women's Property Act, 1882. The circumstances were that the parties were married in 1925 and there was one child. About two years ago the woman left her husband. From the time of the marriage she had had no separate property and the husband had always given her three guineas a week. At one time she took in lodgers. The woman claimed that at the time of the marriage she had contributed £20 towards getting the home together, that she had had to work hard, and that when she took in lodgers it was with her husband's consent and by doing so she had been able to save the money.

In awarding the money to the husband the judge said that the legal position was that, "if a wife was able to save money from housekeeping, such money was due to her husband. In the same way money made by the wife from lodgers was also due to the husband, who provided facilities enabling them to be taken in." The judgment indicates that women's rights have by no means as yet been wholly won, and that because of this court decision interminable squabbles may be brooding on the domestic hearth where so much disharmony arises because of monetary differences of opinion. Women, and who can blame them, will probably go on maintaining that in the premises "possession is nine points of the law."

CHINA'S PLUCKY STAND

Hearty congratulations will go out to General Chiang kai-Shek and Chinese troops under his command for the decisive reverses administered to the common foe in the battle of Ichang. From confirmed reports, so far, the Chinese outwitted and outfought a Japanese force estimated at between 60,000 and 75,000 men; seriously mauling five enemy divisions engaged in a fresh attempt to push on towards Chungking. Allied air support was gratefully acknowledged.

While details are awaited of the action in all its circumstances, it is clear that the Chinese, under able leaders, have given the enemy something more than a sharp check in the field. It is a reversal for the enemy at the peak of a new Japanese thrust to strike to the heart of Chinese resistance. It is proof again that China, which has endured so much since the start of the conflict, almost six years ago in her case, will not only outlast the enemy in the field, but also will, in a direct and most material sense, help to bring about Japan's ultimate and unequivocal defeat.

Viewed in that light, the Chinese success before Ichang is doubly welcome. The grateful thanks of the United Nations, and of all of them, will go out to battle veterans who have fought on in this same conflict without wearying; knowing it is a just cause, and that in the end it must, and will prevail. To field commanders who engineered the smashing blow to the enemy will go the especial thanks of the Allied high command. Once again the common enemy has been made "to burn and bleed," as part of that process which will bring about his eventual dissolution in the field. The capture of Attu Island, by United States forces, was a concurrent sign of the same thing.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

In the last war, because so many women were taken from their peace-time occupations to engage in industry and other war services, there developed something in the nature of a revolution in employment. This time the revolution to come will be on a far wider scale. The last change-over was responsible in a measure for the years of depression that ensued; the present dislocation of labor will bring about an even greater problem in the future, one that will test the ingenuity of social reconstructionists to the utmost. Women who have breathed the air of freedom which winning their own livelihood gives will not readily return to their domestic duties, and the result will be a proportionate weakening of home life. This is one of the problems related to social security that has hardly been considered at all. Will the work-a-day world in the piping times of peace afford employment for all those who are now at work? Most assuredly it will not, except, perhaps, during the years in which it is necessary to reconstruct what has been destroyed. When that task is accomplished there will, of a certainty, be a slump in employment. Measures of social security may be sufficient to fill the gap, but no one knows how great that gap will be. All of this indicates that there is a revolution in the making that will accentuate social problems of the future.

Judging from the time consumed in the House of Commons in discussing the military adventures at Hongkong and Dieppe, to say nothing of other raking over of the ashes of a dead past, Parliament has developed into a nursery for crying over spilt milk.

SEEDS OF POETRY

In my infant and boyish days I owed much to an old woman who resided in the family, remarkable for her ignorance, credulity and superstition. She had, I suppose, the largest collection in the country of tales and songs concerning devils, ghosts, fairies, brownies, witches, warlocks, spunkies, kelpies, elf-candles, dead-lights, wraiths, apparitions, contraips, giants, enchanted towers, dragons, and other trumpery. This cultivated the latent seeds of poetry.—Robert Burns.

A babe in a house is a well-spring of pleasure, a messenger of peace and love, a resting-place for innocence on earth, a link between angels and men.—Tupper.

There is a law of neutralization of forces, which hinders bodies from sinking beyond a certain depth in the sea; but in the ocean of baseness, the deeper we get, the easier the sinking.—Lowell.

It has been well said that no man ever sank under the burden of the day. It is when tomorrow's burden is added to the burden of today that the weight is more than a man can bear.—George Macdonald.

If a man does not make new acquaintances, as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair.—Johnson.

BACK-GARDENING

Back-gardening is a pursuit for the philosopher. Others may try it, but only a philosopher will stay. Gardening, of course, may be anything from a chore to a big business. Back-gardening is neither, though it may be developed into a fine art. Oh, you can tell in a moment [illegible] gardening or not. Sit him down in the middle of a patch of weeds, and watch his behavior. If he starts immediately to pull weeds, he is a gardener, and not capable of philosophy. If, on the other hand, he calmy admires the luxurious growth of the weeds, displays some curiosity as to their precise form and texture; above all, if he waits to study a spider dragging its netted silk parachute over the ground, then he is indeed the raw material from which any back-garden can make, and will make, a true philosopher. His back-garden may not present him with a root-house full of Winter stores, but it will teach him how to live—and what is more—let live.

* * *

The process, given a philosophic mind, is an insidiously pleasant one. Let a man only sit on the cool brown soil, and he becomes aware at once that a back-garden is not a dead thing, but an affair of infinite variety and life. In one square yard, if he watches, he will find an animated, moving picture, never for one moment still. The spider, the ant, the centipede, the white cabbage-butterfly, even the day-torpid cutworm, what use has the gardener for them? None! Ah, but the back-gardener knows them. They are his friends. To him they are life in motion, fate in its awful balance, destiny working out; an integrated, living whole. Chickweed, the dandelion, wire-grass, and the bat-winged grow-by-night, what are they or any of them to the gardener? Nothing, if not enemies. But even the neophyte back-gardener will sit and contemplate them for minutes, nay for hours. The gardener measures, with a jaundiced eye, the amount of work that has yet to be done. The back-gardener is far more sensible. He knows the work will never be done. That is its peculiar attraction for him. He has no wish to hurry through a complete course in life itself. What philosopher would?

* * *

No. No, the back-gardener spins it out. He relishes every moment of it. He finds patience in the wire-grass; which radiates like a many-pointed star, and seeds itself at every new and cunning terminal. He sees honesty among the dandelions; beautiful in their humility, fairy-like in their seed-balloons, bold and venturesome in their wind-borne migrations, east, west, north and south. Were these things dead the back-gardener would grieve for them, as missing friends. But they are alive; deathless and recurrent, advancing into the infinity of time which man himself may never see. And there, you know, the back-gardener finds humility, and it is very good for him. What is his life expectancy against that of the nearest thistle, or at least the thistle clan? What indeed! Patience, humility, and a desire to know, these are the earmarks of a philosopher. In a back-garden he may exercise them; secure in the knowledge that he will never know it all, never do a moiety of that which should be done, never be without employment and that in association with animate, uncritical friends. Refreshed from his back-garden, any man may approach life with new zest. He has learned how to live and to let live—whereas, if you merely wish to eat cabbage you can buy it at the public market, and at less than the cost of production. Any gardener will tell you so.

THREE OF QUADRUPLETS DIE

LONDON, June 1 (CP).—Quadruplets were born to the wife of a road worker at Cheltenham Hospital today, but three of them died shortly after birth. Only a boy remained alive tonight. The children were born to Mrs. Alfred J. Court, who gave her age as "a little more than forty." Physicians said their weight was a little more than three pounds each.

Major Longstaff Inspects Life Boys

The team of life boys under the leader-in-charge, R. Scoble, in connection with the Sunday school of Centennial Church has just completed its third year. In addition to Mr. Scoble, two other members of the staff have served the three years, Rev. John Turner, chaplain, and Miss M. Viggers, the secretary and registrar. A new leader this session is Mr. J. L. Norman, who is an old Boys' Brigade boy.

The third annual inspection was held last Friday evening in the Sunday school hall by Major F. V. Longstaff in the presence of many of the parents of the boys. The usual flag raising was carried out by the senior boy and the Bible reading given by Mr. Turner, being repeated by every boy. There were twenty members on parade. The inspection of the ranks was then made, followed by musical figure marching under whistle control. Then teams showed how to restore the apparently drowned.

During the session training in semaphore and first aid had been given; and as a hobby the collection of stamps was carried out. The only prize winner was Life Boy Donald Hendry, being the only member of the team qualified up to the high standard of conduct and tests by examination, practical and written. Major Longstaff congratulated Boy Hendry on having stuck so faithfully to his duties and hobbies during the past difficult session.

The team was complimented by the inspecting officer on the clean boots and the well-kept condition of the boys' own clothes; and special thanks was given to the parents for the support given to aid the regular attendance of the boys week after week. Many of the parents were present in the gallery, among them Mr. and Mrs. Hendry, parents of Donald.

It now appears that a series of separate United Nations organizations will be formed in the months to come, one to deal with food, one with relief, a third with finance and others as the need arises. Each will be a separate organization but there is no doubt here they will emerge in the future to form one overall association, the League of Nations of tomorrow, only it will not be called that.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

May Have Flourless Days—There is a possibility that Canadians may have to go without any wheat flour at all for a period before the next wheat crop is harvested and milled. J. W. Gibson, representative of the Canada Food Board, said an order had been issued to all milling companies to turn over for export all their surplus stocks of wheat over and above their normal milling requirements for four weeks. This might mean that the people of Canada would have to go without wheat flour altogether until the next harvest.

Accident—Just at luncheon hour yesterday the tramway trolley wire at the corner of Government and Fort Streets came loose from the supports and tumbled to the ground. The result was that the current had to be shut off for a couple of hours while repairs were made, and "dead cars" were left all over the city, to the great inconvenience of the public. The accident, however, was one which could not have been avoided, and it was repaired with all possible dispatch.

The boat is to be 115 or 120 feet long, with every convenience for travelers. The iron is already on its way up to Soda Creek and the timber is being prepared from the pine of the Upper Fraser.

PIERRE DUPUY GIVEN THE C.M.G.

Pierre Dupuy, Canada's last diplomatic representative to the Vichy Government who carried on there for the British and Canadian Governments under difficult conditions, is another who gets the C.M.G.

The financial side is recognized in an award to George W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, responsible for the Victory Loan campaigns.

The top bracket awards in the army go to Lieut.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, commander of a corps overseas, which means all lieutenant-generals now are companions of the bath.

The C.B. also went this time to the army commanders on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts and in Newfoundland, to commanders of divisions in Canada and overseas, and to the vice-chief of the General Staff at Ottawa, Maj.-Gen. J. C. Murchie.

Other army awards were six bestowals of the C.B.E. (Commander of the Order of the British Empire), twenty-four of the O.B.E. (officer of that order), fifty-eight of the M.B.E. (member of the order), five Royal Red Cross, first class and nine second class and twenty-four British Empire Medals.

The naval list brought the number of C.B.'s in that service to two when Rear Admiral George C. Jones, vice-chief of staff, received it. The chief of naval staff, Vice-Admiral Percy Nelles, received it last year.

OTHER NAVAL AWARDS LISTED

Other naval awards were two C.B.E.'s, nine O.B.E.'s, six M.B.E.'s two Royal Red Crosses, second class, seventeen British Empire Medals, two Distinguished Service Crosses, and forty-seven mentions in dispatches.

Of the naval awards sixty-six were operational "for valorous action in the face of the enemy." These included the mentions in dispatches, one of them posthumous to the late Lieut.-Cmdr. T. M. W. Colby, of Victoria, who lost his life when the corvette Weyburn was sunk in the Mediterranean.

Air Vice-Marshal G. O. Johnson, air officer commanding-in-chief, Eastern Air Command, and Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie, air member for training who heads the air training organization, received the C.B. Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, chief of staff, received the same award in the new year's list.

The other air force awards are four C.B.E.'s, seven O.B.E.'s, seventy-nine M.B.E.'s, two Royal Red Crosses, second class, twenty-four B.E.M.'s, eighteen mentions in dispatches, twenty Air Force Crosses, seven Air Force Medals, and nineteen commendations.

The civilian list conferred the Imperial Service Order, reserved for civil servants of at least twenty-five years service, on ten officials of Dominion or Provincial Governments.

The rest of the list was made up of twenty-one bestowals of the C.B.E., sixty-five of the O.B.E., 150 of the M.B.E. and twenty-four of the British Empire Medal.

the Disputes Act, but he has hitherto taken the view that amending the bill would raise too grave a controversy with the Conservative Party. Conservatives still strongly oppose any concessions to Labor on this issue.

Nazi leaders are intensifying their "murderous" attacks on Jews in Poland and the Balkans, says The Times diplomatic correspondent. Latest brutality is that of fixing a preposterous financial levy on the whole Jewish community in Rumania. As it is impossible to pay it, all defaulting Jews will be deported to forced labor in the Ukraine behind the German defence lines.

All Jews have been driven from Sofia and many will be deported to Poland. The Hungarian Government is stalling, explaining it will deport Jews only when an area has been set aside for their settlement.

In Russia the Red Army reports show that everywhere in the liberated regions the Jews were murdered by German soldiers. Large nmbers of Russians were hanged and shot. Many escaped but for the Jews escape has been exceptional.

The terrible battle in the Warsaw Ghetto has ended after a month of unparalleled murder. One thousand Jews were murdered in their homes and thousands of others carried off to a concentration camp. From Polish towns, Radomsk, Krasnik, Sobolew and others, thousands of Jews have been deported under conditions of cruelty calculated to cause their deaths.

Australia's war output, says The Times' special correspondent who has investigated it, says for a country of only 7,000,000 people is amazing. The Commonwealth now is equipping her own armed forces with anti-aircraft guns, predictors, cruiser tanks, torpedo-carrying bombers, twenty-five-pounder guns, anti-tank guns, four naval guns and several kinds of machine guns.

Much controversy has been caused in Australia by allegations of Minister of Labor Ward that the Menzies and Fadden Ministries had agreed, in the event of Japanese invasion, to abandon part of Northern Australia down to the "Brisbane Line." Premier Curtin's Government rejected the suggestion, and former Premier Menzies says the war council never favored abandonment of any area, and that the Labor Minister is guilty of giving away secrets of War Cabinet discussions.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any time, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

According to Culbertson - - -

North and South sadly watched the opponent-scorekeeper inscribe a neat 100 in his own column, above the line, and then the recriminations began.

"Why didn't you let me alone at six clubs?" moaned South.

"But, gee," North protested, "look at the hand I had—with you jumping all the way to a small slam after one measly raise from me."

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	6 ♣	Pass
7 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

West lost no time about laying down the diamond ace—with the result recorded above.

There were two separate reasons for this debacle. First and foremost, both North and South were the sort of players who disdain the use of slam conventions to locate aces. Second, North was that abomination among bridge players referred to by experts as a "partner trapper."

Let's take up the second point first. North deliberately underbid when he raised from two clubs to three clubs. (Surely he had the values for a double raise.) Then, having lulled partner into the false feeling that whatever he (South) finally decided to do would be "undisturbed" by North, the latter tried to amend his previous raise by carrying the contract to a grand slam. There was no excuse for such backing and filling.

In a more fundamental sense, however, the reason North-South went astray on this deal with their refusal to use the 4-5 No Trump Convention or the Blackwood. Either of these conventions would have revealed the tremendous duplication of values in the combined hands and kept the partnership out of the grand slam. The Culbertson Convention would come into play negatively, in this way:

North	South
1 ♥	2 ♣
4 ♣	4 ♣
Pass

Here the very fact that South did not bid four no trump should tell North that he lacked the technical requirements. Since South jumped to a small slam, it would not be difficult for North to figure out that the combined hands were off an ace, because with the general values for a small slam, and with three aces, South would have preferred to bid four no trump.

The Blackwood would clarify everything in a positive way, to wit:

North	South
1 ♥	2 ♣
4 ♣	4 NT
5 ♦	6 ♣

Now it would be South who would know that the hands were off an ace, and who would, of course, stop at the safe small slam.

Freighters Collide in Lake Superior; Crew Rescued and Landed Safely as One Sinks

PORT ARTHUR, June 1 (CP).—The crew of twenty-two from the Paterson Steamship Lines grain carrier Prindoc, which foundered in Lake Superior early today, arrived here tonight.

The Prindoc went down off Passage Island, Thunder Bay, after a collision with the freighter Battleford of the Canada Steamship Lines in thick weather.

Capt. A. Simpell, of Midland, Ont., and all his crew escaped without injury from the Prindoc. They were picked up by the Battleford, which suffered damage in the collision.

The crew members on arrival here were placed aboard a chartered bus and taken to Fort William.

Police guarded all approaches to the dock where the Battleford berthed and reporters were not permitted to question the survivors. They had ben told to answer no questions.

This order was explained by a Paterson Steamships Line official as being necessary in order that no information be divulged before arrangements are concluded for an official inquiry.

It was indicated, however, that the ships collided at 1:30 a.m. today, about twenty-five miles off Passage Island, approximately sixty miles southeast of Port Arthur.

"We never saw each other at all," one of the crew members was heard to say.

"We got our boats lowered and in'r them, and were away from the Prindoc before she went down. We were picked up later by boats from the Battleford."

HEAVY FOG SHROUDED LAKE

PORT WILLIAM, June 1 (CP).—The freighter Prindoc, owned by Paterson Steamships, Limited, foundered early today off Passage Island in Thunder Bay, following a collision with the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Battleford.

The office of the harbor master here reported that the Prindoc's crew of twenty-two had been picked up by the Battleford and were being brought to Port Arthur.

Officials of the two steamship companies had no additional information about the crash. They said details would have to await the arrival of the Battleford at the Lakehe- possibly late tonight.

The Prindoc, under the command of Capt. A. Simpell, of Midland, Ont., cleared from the Lakehead yesterday with 215,000 bushels of wheat, bound for Goderich, Ont.

"Static is so heavy we are unable to get through on the ship-to-shore telephone," said E. B. Sutherland, Paterson Line executive. "It is known that the fog was very heavy and navigation difficult. No details of the accident are known as yet."

Mr. Sutherland said first word of the sinking reached Fort William from Lorrain, O., where communication was established with the Prindoc soon after the collision.

The Prindoc was a ship of 3,813 tons, built in 1901 at Cleveland. She was 356 feet long and had a fifty-foot beam.

Officers Named on Honors List Well Known Here

CAPT. V. P. ALLEYNE, O.B.E., R.C.N. (R.N. Ret'd)

REAR ADMIRAL V. G. BRODEUR, C.B.E., R.C.N.

FOR devotion to duty as commodore of convoys over a period of nearly two years, during which time the convoys under his command were heavily attacked, Capt. Victor P. Alleyne, R.C.N. (R.N. Retired), has been named in His Majesty's Birthday Honors List for 1943 as an officer of the Order of the British Empire (Military Division).

Commodore of the first convoy to sail from North America to the United Kingdom in September, 1939, Capt. Alleyne now makes his home at 322 Armit Street, Esquimalt.

Two officers honored with non-operational awards, and who are well known for their service in Esquimalt, are Rear Admiral George C. Jones, R.C.N., and Rear Admiral Victor G. Brodeur, R.C.N.

Admiral Jones, now vice-chief of naval staff at Ottawa, made a Companion of the Order of the Bath (Military Division), third class, commenced his seafaring life in 1895, at the age of sixteen years. He served through the last war, and after being commander-in-charge, Esquimalt, in 1938, won other promotions until he was appointed to his present command in 1942.

Admiral Brodeur, named Commander of the Order of the British Empire (Military Division), has been largely responsible for the close liaison between the Royal Canadian Navy and the United States Navy, as naval member of the Canadian Joint Staff in Washington. Born in Quebec, he served through the last war on ships of the Royal Navy, and was commander-in-charge at Esquimalt in 1938 with the rank of captain. He had a large share in the Canadian-American defence plans of the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Submarines Can Take Pounding

Claims of Sinkings Carefully Probed

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 1 (CP).—"A submarine," said George, "can take quite a bit of pounding before it sinks and is destroyed—that's why those fellows have to be so careful about what they claim."

George is Flying Officer George Green, of Winnipeg, adjutant of the Demon squadron of the R.C.A.F. Coastal Command, now engaged in anti-submarine patrols from one of the airfields on England's coast.

Green is not so old, but he is old enough to be the father of many of the youngsters who fly in this squadron. Like all adjutants he is a busy fellow, probably a great deal busier than he ever was as a window dressing expert with a large department store in Winnipeg and Saskatoon.

TAKES GREATEST POSSIBLE PART

"I sympathize with these kids," he said.

"They fly most of the night for nights on end, finally sight a submarine on the surface and then have a whale of a time to claim it as destroyed."

"You pretty nearly have to bring the submarine crew back with you," said Pilot Officer Grant Fowlie, of Vancouver, who has been flying over here fifteen months as an observer.

At the time one of the pilots who had a recent claim to a submarine strike was being re-interrogated on the operation. The boys laughed about it and Pilot Officer Bob Smith, of Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., remarked jokingly, "There's so much question-and-answer involved in making a submarine attack I pretty nearly hope one doesn't get in our way."

Trans-Canada Air Lines Come To Victoria on Sunday Next

Makes System Longest Trans-Continental Route in North America—To Carry Mail

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP).—The mainline service of Trans-Canada Air Lines will be extended to Victoria starting next Sunday, instead of terminating at Vancouver, it was announced today in a joint statement by Munitions Minister Howe, Postmaster-General Mulock and H. J. Symington, president of T.C.A.

In the statement, Trans-Canada Air Lines made claim for the first time to having the longest trans-continental route in North America —3,911 miles from St. John's, Nfld., to Victoria.

The statement said that there are important military and other establishments on Vancouver Island in addition to the governmental and commercial activities of the British Columbia capital.

The Board of Transport Commissioners recently found that "present and future public convenience and necessity" required that the service be extended and that the extension while furnishing a more expeditious through service between the East and Victoria, would require no additional expenditure of public money.

TO CARRY ALL AIR MAIL

"All air mail between the Island and the Mainland will be carried by the Trans-Canada planes," the joint statement said.

"Trans-Canada will also carry to Victoria passengers and air express originating at points East of Vancouver, and passengers and air express originating on Vancouver Island and destined to points beyond Vancouver." The Board of Transport Commissioners did not grant to T.C.A. the right to carry passengers or air express locally between Vancouver and Victoria. However, passengers from the Prairies and East having through tickets to Victoria may make a stop-over at Vancouver.

Under the new schedule, T.C.A. transcontinental planes will arrive at Vancouver at 10.40 a.m. and at 10.40 p.m. each day and will then go on to Victoria's Patricia Bay Airport, about forty-six flying miles.

The flight time between Vancouver and Victoria will be twenty-five minutes. Planes will leave Victoria at 4.15 p.m. and 1.30 a.m. daily on eastbound flights.

Big Increases in Air Mail, Express And in Passengers

WINNIPEG, June 1 — Passengers carried by Trans-Canada Air Lines in April totaled 11,537, an increase of 2,722 over the corresponding period last year.

Mail was more than doubled, rising from 139,379 pounds in 1942 to 292,401 this year.

Two Promoted

TORONTO, June 1. — Effective immediately, A. P. Linnell, formerly assistant to the general manager, Canadian National Telegraphs, with headquarters at Toronto, has been made general superintendent of the company's Western region, with headquarters at Winnipeg, it was announced today by General Manager W. M. Armstrong. Mr. Linnell, who visited the Pacific Coast recently with the general manager on an inspection tour, succeeds James G. Davies, who occupied the position for the past thirteen years and who now retires on pension after twenty-five years service with the company.

It is also announced that F. E. Shantz, formerly general supervisor of the messenger errand and distribution service, Canadian National Telegraphs, has been appointed assistant to the general manager.

Mr. Linnell commenced his telegraph service at Winnipeg in 1910 and subsequently served in the construction department at various points in Western Canada. On his return from active service in the first Great War, he was made traffic supervisor, Montreal, and subsequently superintendent of railway telegraph service, Toronto. He was appointed assistant to the general manager in 1931.

F. E. Shantz started as an operator at Toronto in 1914 and served in various capacities there.

Of course we are delighted by the announcement that our store is to be closed all day Wednesday, and we just want to say "Thanks a Million" to our employer. He has been advocating this common sense idea for some time and in common with all other store employees we are all for it. Our customers can easily imagine what this will mean to "us girls" and we don't need to explain the many useful ways in which we can employ this extra free time. And you can be sure that we'll be all the better able to serve you every other day of the week. Yes—we think we have a pretty swell Boss!

Vancouver Girl Joins Britain's Land Army

By DENIS DALTROFF,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 1 (CP).—A Canadian girl nattily dressed in brown breeches, matching felt hat and green sweater—uniform of the Women's Land Army—nervously munched a sandwich, pausing between bites to tell a battery of newsmen what it's like to work on the land with Britain's women farm hands.

It was obvious this healthy, ruddy-faced girl, Josephine West, daughter of a Vancouver surgeon, would rather have been toiling this sunny day on a rolling Huntingdonshire farm than answering a barrage of questions at the Ministry of Information.

She had come there with four other girls to prove that the Empire, too, is represented among the 70,000 women who have chosen one of the toughest jobs on the home front. The others represented are Australia, South Africa, British Guiana and Malta.

"A land girl is always hungry," laughed Josephine, reaching for a second cheese sandwich. "Hard work and plenty of fresh air does that. You can be sure there's something wrong if a land girl hasn't got a whale of an appetite."

Then she began to talk about her job on a private farm in Huntingdonshire, explaining that she volunteered for the land army a week before war started because "I felt something was going to happen."

It was stated the next annual provincial meeting will be held in Victoria. Mrs. John Musgrave was formally welcomed as a new member to the chapter.

Reports Feature Second Day of I.O.D.E. Session

EDMONTON, June 1. — "Despite constant pressure of war work the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has maintained a high standard of educational work through Canada," Mrs. J. D. Detwiler, national educational secretary, told the I.O.D.E. today in the MacDonald Hotel.

"The sum of $19,100.99 was spent during the year on bursaries, scholarships and other monetary assistance to enable 340 students to continue their education. Of these 340, fifty-eight are from the homes of service or ex-servicemen," Mrs. Detwiler reported.

Prizes costing $2,604.13 were awarded to school children throughout Canada and consisted of books, trophies, medals and other articles, including $1,500 worth of War Savings Stamps and Certificates. Over 5,000 schools received I.O.D.E. calendars; 405 libraries were sent to schools. "Adopted Schools" total 1,089; 449 out of a total of 911 chapters have adopted schools, the report stated.

ADULT EDUCATION

Mrs. Detwiler, reporting on the progress of the adult education committee, pointed out that the press and radio were being widely used to further educational programmes organized by the I.O.D.E. Study groups had been organized in some areas and special efforts were being made by many chapters to inspire women with a consciousness of their own power and their responsibility in reconstruction after the war, she said.

Mrs. A. P. Sharpe, convener of the Empire correspondence committee, reported an ever widening correspondence to all parts of the Empire. School children in every province are participating in this branch of the order's Empire building programme, she stated.

Ms. L. B. Smart, of Toronto, national secretary of the I.O.D.E., told the meeting that the fourth year of war has proved that "the one engrossing aim must be an all-out effort in order to win through to final victory."

At the opening of today's session, messages of greeting were read from Prime Minister King, Lady Tweedsmuir, official representative of the I.O.D.E. in England; Lady Reading, chairman of the women's voluntary services for civil defence in England; Mrs. Edgar Hardy, president of the National Council of Women; Mrs. George Black, member of the national executive for the Yukon; Miss Ellen Wilkinson, of the National Fire Fighters Comforts Association, London, and others.

Barbers Receive First Call in R.C.A.F. (W.D.)

Barbers are urgently needed in the R.C.A.F. (W.D.), according to Section Officer J. F. Stewart, who, with Corporal B. Cottet, arrived yesterday in Victoria from Vancouver with a mobile recruiting unit in charge of Flying Officer J. L. Drummond, R.C.A.F., and is stationed at the Strathcona Hotel.

While "barber" is the military term used for the class, it really means "hairdresser."

"It is a real opportunity for anyone keen on hair styling since there are 150 girls on a station," remarked Section Officer Stewart yesterday afternoon when she explained that a barber recruit must have at least three years' experience as a hairdresser and possess a Provincial certificate. Her duties will be chiefly confined to members of the Women's Division posted to isolated stations.

This is the first time there has been a call for barbers, it was stated.

Yesterday some forty recruits were received by the R.C.A.F. and the Women's Division. The latter will leave Victoria on Friday, while the R.C.A.F. recruiting unit will remain longer.

Flight Officer K. E. Shuttlewood, who has frequently been posted to Victoria with recruiting units, has now been moved to No. 8 Bombing and Gunnery School, Lethbridge, and Section Officer L. E. Glenn, who is also well known here, is taking Flight Officer Shuttlewood's place.

Young People's Organizations

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the scene of gay activity Monday evening at the closing party of the Y.P.S. Several naval ratings were guests at the party, and the evening was spent in lively games conducted by Margaret Gray and Nancy McCoy. At the conclusion of the games, refreshments were served by the social committee under the convenership of Margaret Stewart. On behalf of the sailors present, Roy Mackenzie thanked the society, and Marjorie Bain president, spoke a word of welcome. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought another successful season to a close. The young people were told to watch the newspapers for notices in connection with gatherings during the Summer months.

Weddings

ARMSTRONG—JEUNE

A pretty June wedding was celebrated by Rev. Hugh A. McLeod in First United Church on Tuesday evening against a background of palms, ferns, pink peonies and pyrethrums and tall lighted tapers in standard candelabra. The principals were Muriel May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Jeune, 1360 Gladstone Avenue, and Mr. John J. Armstrong, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, 1533 Gladstone Avenue. Mr. G. Peaker was at the organ and Mr. John Bray was vocal soloist. The bride was given away by her father and wore a street-length frock of turquoise blue silk crepe with eggshell accessories and carried a bouquet of cream rosebuds. Miss Mary Smythe, the bridesmaid, had chosen a frock of rose silk with cranberry accents, cranberry accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Leonard Denton was groomsman and acting as ushers were Mr. Lorne Rowebottom and Mr. Alex Swiston, Woodfibre, B.C. Pink and white stocks and snapdragons, mauve and yellow iris and fern were arranged at the home of the bride's parents for the reception, and after the toast had been given by an old family friend, Dr. Morris Thomas, the bride cut the cake, which centred a table covered with a cutwork and lace cloth and decorated with vases of lily of the valley and white tapers in silver candelabra. After a honeymoon Up-Island, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will return in two weeks and take up residence in Victoria. A rose wool tailored suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas was worn by the bride as she left.

MEAKES—APPLEYARD

Rev. Canon Bird solemnized the marriage between Mollie Elizabeth, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Appleyard, 419 Powell Street, and Mr. Walter George Meakes, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Meakes, Grand Forks, which took place on Tuesday evening in the Church of Our Lord. The organist was in attendance, and during the signing of the register Mrs. F. Shandley sang "Because." Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin with a floor-length veil from a coronet of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses. Mrs. Robert MacGregor, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, in a long frock of turquoise sheer, with a small floral hat and black accessories, and carried a sheaf of pink baby gladioli. Another sister, Miss Carol Appleyard, and Miss Phyllis Lock, were bridesmaids, in frocks of pale blue sheer, with head wreaths of pink and blue flowers and veils. They carried Victorian posies of pink flowers. Mr. Vernon Porter was groomsman and the ushers were Leading Writer R. MacGregor, R.C.N., and Mr. George Appleyard.

Early Summer flowers were arranged in the church and at the home of the bride's parents for the reception. The candle-lit supper table was centred with the cake flanked by vases of rosebuds. Mr. Frank Mellor, an old family friend, gave the toast. For a honeymoon on the Mainland the bride left in an Air Force blue ensemble with navy accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Meakes will reside in Esquimalt.

What Today Means

"GEMINI"

If June 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Should you find yourself involved in an argument on this date it might be advisable, if more than one person is engaged in it, to bow to the consensus of opinion. The more initiative you use the better off you will be and the better results you are likely to get. A desire to meddle in business policies may result in many ridiculous objections being imposed as to their handling by those who have but a remote interest in them. This will give rise to many cases of hard feelings and exhibitions of justified resentment, so be careful if tempted to stick your finger in someone else's pie. Married, engaged and wooing couples may find it helpful to remember that "it is a bad plan that admits of no modification."

If you are a woman and June 2 is your birthday, by making it a rule to "forgive and forget" real or imaginary wrongs, you can increase your happiness. You may have to overcome a fondness for accumulating worthless things if you wish to have a thoroughly orderly house or room and save yourself from a needless amount of future bother. You are apt to be reckless when it comes to guarding yourself from the ill-effects of draughts and sudden climatic changes, so it might be well to give both of these thoughtful consideration. As an active war worker, dietitian, business manager, interior decorator, writer, broker, demonstrator, lecturer, or in some artistic pursuit, your every hope is apt to be realized. Through co-operating together you and the man of your choice should have no trouble in making your married life a complete success.

The child born on June 2 can have an excellent disposition ruined if he is subjected to an undue amount of ridicule or teasing. Children born on this date are often extremely sensitive and are apt to take to heart any form of criticism. Through their mental alertness and high sense of duty Gemini youngsters have seldom any trouble in advancing steadily towards their goal of success.

If you are a man and June 2 is your natal day your personality, expressed through strong individuality, may arouse an unconscious amount of envious resentment among some of your close associates who lack it, and this may be the cause of their continually subjecting you to unjustifiable criticism, so ignore it. As a salesman, accountant, personnel director, financier, business executive, journalist, author, publisher, actor, engineer, architect, scientist, clergyman, agriculturist, chemist, inventor, or through answering your country's call to arms, you will probably see some of your cherished dreams come true.

Red Cross Asks Jam for Britain

SINCE the war began more than a million pounds of jam have been shipped to Britain, and of this quantity British Columbia has provided one-fifth. Last year, in the province, Victoria came first and the local Red Cross jam committee appealed to the public for their same generous support in order that they may do so again this season.

British Columbia has been asked to supply 120,000 pounds, and sugar and cans for this amount are guaranteed.

The committee of the Sunshine Inn have again kindly offered the use of their equipment, which is now being housed at 519 Yates Street. This will make an excellent headquarters, authorities assert, and all who may have fruit to spare are asked to note the address.

[illegible] did project for the past two years is unable to continue and more helpers are needed. The Red Cross urgently requests that any one able to do so will telephone B 3159 or call at headquarters and give their name and address.

Don't delay—work will commence about the middle of June.

V.A.D. Campaign For Recruits Opens Monday

Formation of an extensive campaign for V.A.D. recruits was made yesterday by members of the Women's Auxiliary committee, St. John Ambulance Brigade at the home of the chairman, Miss Sara Spencer, Moss Street.

Members will be on duty from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day next week starting Monday, except Wednesday, when they will be in attendance from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 1006 Government Street to give all information to recruits and to enlist V.A.D.'s.

There is a need in Canada for 500 recruits for the V.A.D. and, to quote the chairman, "This work comes within women's sphere; it is nursing, and is the most patriotic duty they can do."

V.A.D.'s hold officers' status; they mess with officers and nursing sisters. Qualifications include junior matriculation, or the equivalent; the applicant must possess first aid or home nursing certificates and be a member of St. John Ambulance Brigade or Red Cross Corps. Ages may be from eighteen to forty-four years.

Pay is $20 a month, with $10 a month laundry allowance, and officers' billeting allowance, totaling $81. Uniforms are supplied after three months' probation and there is a uniform allowance granted after a year's service.

A V.A.D. may be released from her work on compassionate grounds or to join a school of nursing.

This campaign will receive the strongest support from both St. John Ambulance Brigade and the Red Cross, these two organizations co-operating in the fullest sense.

Makes Plans for Lions' Auxiliary Summer Activities

To mark the last meeting of the fiscal year the Lions' Auxiliary, comprising the wives of the Lions Club members of Victoria, held a luncheon in Spencer's private dining-room on Tuesday. Mrs. J. Fuller, president of the auxiliary, was chairman and introduced the speaker, Mrs. George Biddle, also a member.

Mrs. Biddle spoke of the complacency, both mental and spiritual, which exists in the world today. "We are concerned too much with our affairs," she said, "and hardly know our neighbors." "Faith," she continued, which is an essential, is often absent. Mentioning the book by Albert Edward Day, "The Faith We Live," she said, "Faith was a state of repose that gives confidence"—"Confidence to face life; not grapple with it." Mrs. Biddle called on the members to be more interested in others and keep a tolerant outlook.

Mrs. W. J. R. Peers moved the vote of thanks.

During the business discussion it was decided to hold a picnic and raspberry tea during the Summer.

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XLIV

"Andrew's not apt to see anyone he likes as much as he does Aline," Rogers interrupted himself again to say. "But she let me see that it was all on his side. He had fallen hard for her, down there in the Summer warmth and the palms and all that, tennis and swimming — amusing themselves all the time, and she just—she's got the tenderest heart . . ."

He fell silent and Dina was silent, too, marveling.

"Wouldn't you and she—you were quarreling so yesterday—" She presently offered hesitantly.

"Oh lord, we've always done that!" Rogers said comfortably. "Once she was my wife there'd be no more of that. Because you see," he added confidently, "I'd have the whip hand now. She's come to me this time. She wants peace and quiet and companionship and security for her children; she said so. And she—she put her hand on my shoulder yesterday." Rogers finished with another gruff, half-ashamed laugh, "and said 'mind you never let me go again Toppy!'"

Dina could think of nothing to say, and as he now seemed to sink into his own happy thoughts the drive was finished without further words.

In the dreamy Spring mornings she walked through the scented foggy world to the convent, where a small, wrinkled Spanish sister took her through the first miseries of Spanish verbs.

Dina loved the atmosphere of the big school; while she struggled with grammar and drew pictures to supplement her scatty Spanish and Sister Mary Filippa's almost deficient English she could hear girls practicing piano scales furiously behind glass doors, hear their feet clipping in the halls and their shouts over basketball at recreation.

Dina would get home, flushed and hot from walking, just as the sun was bursting through the mist. She would put on an old smock, a straw helmet she had bought in the five-and-ten cent store, and descend to work in the garden, stopping only in time to wash her hands for lunch.

At luncheon she would give Rogers a smiling, sleepy account of her adventures before going upstairs to lie down, perhaps to read and perhaps to nap.

Afterward they often had an engagement. Dina went with him to the city, half an hour's drive distant, to concerts, pictures, cocktail parties, or perhaps to see some visiting friend at one of the big hotels.

Sometimes Mrs. Bucket packed an evening dress for her and she and Rogers changed to dinnerwear in the rooms he kept in an apartment house on California Street. If they did, he always had some errand between six and half-past six, returning only when Dina was dressed.

She was never conscious of any embarrassment about it; he was like a good-natured older brother, a brother whose admiring talk of another woman sometimes bored her and often made her feel a sense of pity for his simplicity.

She never got quite used to being introduced as his wife, but that was perhaps because so many of his friends were amazed at the situation too. The men would hold her hands, laughing, looking admiration at her youth, and teasing Rogers for being a cradle snatcher.

The women were almost invariably nice to her; she grew less afraid of them and more sure of herself.

Dina and Rogers were playing backgammon, and now she slowly turned the big disc about, sometimes setting up one number, sometimes another. The Spring evening was warm; they had no fire tonight. The light from a floor lamp fell upon her shining head.

"I like it better when we're just alone here, like tonight," she presently said.

"You really do?"

"I like the days with nothing in them but my Spanish lesson, or maybe our going to town to a movie or walking or working with your stamps, and I like evenings like this one. If we have a date I'm thinking about it—I'm a little scared about it all day."

"It's years," the man said, "since I've gone around this way. I think it's your doing. I get a great kick about arriving places with you and having you peel off your coat—"

"Always an effort when it's my new coat," Dina said. Rogers laughed.

"They all like you," he said, "and it makes me—it makes me important. Everyone's interested, all my mother's old friends, Van's friends."

"I make you important?" Dina echoed, faint emphasis on the pronouns.

"You do, my dear. And one reason is"—Rogers worked it out—"that you're happy. They can see it. The way you talk of this place, the way you let them see that you're not anxious to be asked to parties, not interested in dancing and night clubs—"

"Good heavens!" Dina said under her breath.

"Well, things will be quieter now," Rogers went on. "Everyon's going away. But this has been a queer sort of happy time for me, Geraldine, seeing people I haven't seen for years, getting into things again. Having my bride steal Aline's thunder," he finished with a smile.

"What'll they think—what'll they think in July, Rogers?" she asked, shrinking, her troubled eyes meeting his for a second, moving away again.

Reports on Shawnigan A.R.P. Practice Heard

At a meeting of the Shawnigan Lake A.R.P. on Monday evening, with the district warden, E. G. Gibson, presiding, a comprehensive report was read of the recent A.R.P. demonstration at Shawnigan, and suggestions for the improvement of the different branches of the organization, drawn from experience gained at the demonstration, were heard.

The need for more general knowledge of the use of stirrup pumps was stressed, as these pumps were felt to be of utmost importance in holding small fires until the arrival of the fire crew, which might, in a raid, be employed elsewhere.

The wardens were asked to do their best to stimulate interest in this important phase of the organization.

"Micky Mouse" respirators for infants were reported available on application to the district warden. An idea for carrying adult respirators in tobacco cans was described by A. Layton, chief of the fire fighters, who had tried the plan successfully in the recent demonstration. Dim-out regulations were clarified for the wardens by the intimation that lights which show a definite shadow of the window-sill on the ground are too bright.

Mr. Layton spoke of the need of a small truck to facilitate the laying out and reeling in of the fire hoses. The meeting voted in favor of raising money for this purpose in the community, providing the necessary permission can be obtained from the district C.P.C. The truck would be the property of the community for fire-fighting purposes after the war. Following the meeting, Capt. T. G. Stokes, of the Malahat-Shawnigan C.P.C., showed interesting movies, in Technicolor, of the Shawnigan demonstration.

Mrs. Blair Reid gave valuable information on housing and W.T.P.T.B. matters. Mrs. P. C. Shaw reported the diocesan meeting recently held. It was announced that Mrs. C. A. Couture will attend the annual convention of the C.W.L. in Hamilton, Ont., June 12 to 17.

A garden party is being held on July 1 to aid the funds of the cathedral and committees were nominated. A souvenir number of the C.Y.O. paper "The Torch" will be published in commemoration of the centenary of Victoria.

Mrs. Blair Reid read letters from ministers of the Federal Government regarding building of army chapels in Canadian Army camps for all three services. The ministers assured the membership that building chapels will be proceeded with as necessary adjuncts to the equipment of camps in military centres. The National C.W.L. had recently endorsed a resolution advocating this measure.

Musical Experiment Brought to Close

An interesting experiment was brought to a close last Friday evening when the Victoria Junior Orchestra had its final rehearsal of the season. Mr. Melvin Knudsen, conductor, and Mrs. D. Kent (Fay Ockenden), concert mistress, expressed pleasure with the results obtained and are looking forward to the next season, which will begin after the holidays.

Though called a junior orchestra, it is open to all students who are interested in orchestra work, and while there is no strict standard, any player can join if he or she can read fairly well and is able to handle his or her instrument with ease. The training the students receive in this orchestra prepare them for entering the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

The parents of this group are forming an auxiliary and plan to meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. McMillan, 151 Beach Drive.

Coal Mines Idle

The work stoppage, Ickes said, is "intolerable because without coal we cannot win the war."

An official said the Office of Defence Transportation was ready to clamp a ban on non-essential rail travel and order rail mileage cut 25 per cent. if this should seem advisable to save fuel.

The War Production Board's office of war utilities said a nation-wide dimout—eliminating all non-essential electricity—was a possibility, although estimating power companies have a 108-day supply of coal on hand.

Ickes estimated there were forty-nine days' supply of coal above ground, steel centres reporting their production would be seriously affected within a week to ten days.

Labor Board officials estimated the railroads had a thirty-day supply of coal.

MIGHT AFFECT B.C. SUPPLIES

VANCOUVER, June 1 (CP) — Thomas Marshall, Western representative of the coal controller, said today the shutdown of mines in the United States, if prolonged, might be felt in British Columbia, since Alberta coal destined to this province would have to be diverted to Eastern markets now supplied by the United States.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE Featuring Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing in the principal roles, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," which ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre, is a stirring, colorful and action-crammed story of the exploits and adventures of England's colonial soldiers in India. The author, Francis Yeats-Brown, was himself an officer of the Lancers, while Achmed Abdullah, film adapter, and four British army officers served as technical advisers during the production of the film.

CADET THEATRE What happened to a delightfully irresponsible Manhattan heiress when she goes broke and discovers the extravagant life she has led has completely unfitted her to cope with life's normal problems—including love? Gregory La Cava has used this premise for his gay Universal comedy, "Lady in a Jam," starring Irene Dunne, which ends tonight at the Cadet Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Rudy Vallee hold forth merrily in Paramount's Technicolor comedy with music, "Happy Go Lucky," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. There are five hit tunes in the film—"Happy Go Lucky," "Let's Get Lost," "Murder, He Says," "The Fuddy Duddy Watchmaker" and "Sing a Tropical Song," the latter a Calypso number warbled by Sir Lancelot, the famous Calypso singer. The picture is a gay, romantic funfilm played in a holiday mood.

DOMINION THEATRE Lovely Frances Dee is seen as Candy, magazine-famous heroine of Elizabeth Dunn's stories in Columbia's "Meet the Stewarts," now at the Dominion Theatre. William Holden is co-starred as the other half of the honeymoon team whose antics delighted thousands of Ladies' Home Journal readers. Among the featured players in the cast are Grant Mitchell, Anne Gillis, Roger Clark, Marjorie Gateson, Anne Revere and Danny Mummert.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Barbara Stanwyck and Michael O'Shea spend few serious romantic moments in the colorful story of burlesque life (chilled only by two darling murderes), "Lady of Burlesque," which is now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres through United Artists release. Supporting players include J. Charles Bromberg, Charles Dingle, Gloria Dixon, Frank Conroy and Marion Martin.

RIO THEATRE Young Bobs Watson repeats his memorable role of Pee Wee in "Men of Boys Town," ending tonight at the Rio Theatre. It is the long-awaited sequel to "Boys Town," which brought Academy Awards to Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, again starred in the new picture in their respective roles of Father Flanagan and Whitey Marsh. Another dramatically powerful story of Father Flanagan's fight for homeless boys, the production was directed by Norman Taurog.

YORK THEATRE Bette Davis' picture, "Now, Voyager," which ends tonight at the York Theatre is an event which spells entertainment plus to film audiences. Co-starred with her is the romantic Viennese actor, Paul Henreid, while the supporting cast includes Claude Rains, Gladys Cooper, Bonita Granville and Ilka Chase. The story is of a New England girl who rescues herself from her inhibitions; she is unattractive to start with but later becomes a charming woman of the world who, through love, finds the courage to rebel against her tyrannical mother.

They will retain the usual closing hour for Saturday, 9 p.m. Butchers and groceries close at 6 p.m. Saturdays.

Price Ceiling Set on New Potatoes; Government Will Protect Growers by Subsidy

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP).—The Prices Board announced tonight that, effective June 7, prices of new potatoes must not exceed the lawful ceiling prices for Canada No. 1 grade old potatoes, and, to make the reduced price for new potatoes effective, a subsidy will be paid to protect growers and consumers.

The subsidy will be paid by the Prices Stability Corporation, as directed by the Prices Board, and will cease to be paid until August 31 on new potatoes marketed through prescribed channels. In the case of imported new potatoes, the subsidy will be paid on shipments ordered on or after May 3, and entered for consumption during the period June 3 to July 31, both days inclusive.

It will represent the amount by which the laid-down cost at distributing point, at carload rate, exceeds the lawful wholesale ceiling for Canada No. 1 grade potatoes, of any variety other than Netted Gem, at that point.

The subsidy will not be paid on imported new potatoes purchased at a price in excess of $2.50 United States currency, f.o.b. the foreign supplier's shipping point, but this restriction will not apply to shipments for which a firm order has been placed by the importer between May 3 and June 2.

PURCHASE PRICE LIMITS SET

In the case of the Canadian-grown product, a domestic subsidy will be paid to any person who buys new potatoes direct from a primary producer or his agent for resale, provided the purchase price does not exceed the following levels:

When shipped on or before July 31, $3.75 per 100 pounds f.o.b. original shipping point; when shipped August 1 to August 15, $3.50 per 100 pounds; when shipped August 16 to August 31, $3 per 100 pounds.

The domestic subsidy paid through the wholesaler will be the difference between his laid-down cost in carload lots at his distributing point and the lawful wholesale ceiling for new potatoes at that point.

When a retailer buys from a primary producer, the subsidy will represent the difference between his laid-down cost at his distributing point and the lawful wholesale ceiling in less than car lots at that point.

The order specifies that laid-down cost is to include the actual cost of transporting the new potatoes from the original shipping point in Canada to the wholesaler's or retailer's distributing point by common carrier, but is not to include express charges.

Transportation charges will not be recognized for potatoes grown within fifteen miles of the consuming centre, and the minimum quantity of new potatoes on which subsidy will be paid is seventy-five pounds.

The board said it had taken action because of the current acute shortage of potatoes which was not likely to be relieved until this year's crop was harvested.

The new potatoes will be under the same ceiling as Canada No. 1 Grade of old potatoes.

GETTING THEM YOUNGER

LONDON (CP).—The age at which women tram and trolley bus conductors can be recruited for the London Transport service has been reduced from twenty to eighteen years.

100 AND FEARLESS

Demand Certificates

Parents requiring ration books for infant children, which permit the purchase of canned milk, corn syrup and other foods used in infant feeding, must submit a birth or baptismal certificate on application to the ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, ration officials announced yesterday.

In this way the board will know that all applications are genuine, as there had been some abuse of the previous system, which up to now called for a declaration in securing the books for children, it was stated.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S WASHING

Must start this column today with [illegible] congratulations to Elmer Woolard and the bride-to-be for passing along wedding congratulations eighteen days before they ankle up the aisle. Sorry, Elmer, I guess I read that engagement notice in Sunday's paper with the page upside down. From now on I will stick to sport writing and leave the social angle in the right department, or otherwise I would be marrying off people long before they moved towards the preacher . . . Last night the weatherman tried his best to wash out the softball games at the Athletic Park, but in vain. Royal Canadian Air Force and the Navy battled through nine fast scoreless innings before Jupe Pluvius decided it was time to turn on the sprinkler, but still he didn't halt Douglas Tire and the Army from going through with their exhibition game . . . With the respective managers announcing yesterday Tommy Musgrave and Jerry Whitney as starting pitchers for this evening's important ball fixture, the fans should be treated to a real argument from the very first inning. If Musgrave flashes the same form he did against Bellingham, his last time out, the soldiers will have to have their sights trained to fine points to get to him for some base hits. But Whitney can toss them up there with plenty of stuff and can be a great headache to the V.M.D. batters if he gets away on the right foot and receives some tight defence from his mates.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when The Babe Ruth-Boston Braves feud came to a head and the "King of Swat" was given his unconditional release, thus terminating a spectacular baseball career of twenty-two years? That just happened seven years ago today. George Herman put in fifteen seasons with the New York Yankees before he had a brief but torried period with the Braves. . . . Also remember when Trigo, Irish-bred bay colt owned by W. Barnett, prominent Dublic Irishman, won the Derby at Epsom Downs? It will be fourteen years ago tomorrow when that happened. In a field of twenty-six, Trigo raced home a length and a half ahead of Lord Woolavington's Walter Gay. Somerville Tattersall's Briens was third. All the favorites were left in the ruck in this race, far behind the first three. . . . When four Philadelphia fans ordered world series tickets recently from the National League team's front office, The Philadelphia Record came out with this headline on its sports pages. "Phour Phillies' Phans Are Phull of Phaith." . . . Beau Jack, a fighter who earned $350,000 for the syndicates which handles him (some of it for himself, too), picked up enough reading savvy to satisfy the army, into which he goes pretty soon. . . . When Count Fleet pulled up after winning the annual running of the Withers Mile at Belmont Park, he looked about him and then snickered: "Where's Blue Swords?" The latter wasn't even in the field, but the Fleet was so use to having him running down towards the finishing line in second place that he was wondering where his "pal" was that day. . . .

The Yankees drew something like 63,000 cash customers during their two weeks in the West recently, or about as many as they used to get for a Sunday double-header at the Manhattan stadium. . . . The late Knute Rockne, famous coach of Notre Dame grid squads, once asked Jim Crowley (one of his four horsemen of football fame) if there was anything dumber than a dumb Irishman. "Yes," said Crowley sweetly, "a smart Swede."

FROM HERE AND THERE

Two big league scouts have been in Seattle lately in Joe Devine, of the Yanks, and Ernie Johnson, of the Boston Red Sox. It's a cinch bet that they are not looking for ball players in the Sound City, for the Rainiers need all the material they can lay their hands upon right now if they want to vacate the cellar. I guess Joe and Ernie are on a little fishing trip before they head southward in search of prospects for the majors. . . . Victoria lost one of its best pistol shots when Lieut. Ed. Sturrock, who was on the city police department for six years before enlisting, was killed over the last week-end at Nanaimo. Ed. as we in this department knew him well, won many honors at the annual police shoots at Thetis Lake against the best in Northwest law enforcement circles. Many a time your columnist stood on the street corners and chatted with Ed when he was walking the beat in the "wee early hours of the morning" after closing up the sports room for the night. Condolences from this corner to his wife and family and next of kin. . . . Do you know that Walter Hagen, the greatest showman golf ever produced, paid his caddie $375 for his work through four rounds of medal play after one of his successes in the British open championship? That was the "Haig" all over. He was big-hearted, he was happy-go-lucky, and he spent one fortune and set forth to make another. There is no doubt that the game will always carry a Hagen legend. He was a spectacular personality, he had a personal magnetism that made him popular, and spectators knew that they could generally count upon seeing some astonishing and remarkable recovery play when they followed "King Walter." . . . I remember one day at Colwood when Hagen was here with Johnny Farrell, then United States open champion, for an exhibition match. He kept the crowd waiting for half an hour while he lapped up Scotch and sodas at the "nineteenth" hole.

Battle to Scoreless Tie Again—Douglas Tire Beats Army, 4 to 2

R.C.A.F. 0, Navy 0.

Douglas Tire 4, Army 2 (exhibition game).

Playing the nine innings in little over an hour, Royal Canadian Air Force and Royal Canadian Navy softball nines battled to their second straight scoreless tie last night at Royal Athletic Park.

Sid Stebbings and Harry Braverman, who a few weeks ago worked seven innings without a single run being scored, returned to the hillock last night and did a "repeat" performance.

It was a tight ball game all of the way, with rival pitchers hurling neat ball, and receiving grand support from their clubmates. A total of five base hits was punched out, with the Flyers getting the odd bingle.

Scoring seemed distant until the last inning when the bluejackets looked as if they would break the scoreless deadlock, but it proved to be a false alarm. With one man down Wilf Thompson, better known in local soccer circles, crashed out a triple, only to die at the "hot corner" when the next two batters failed to hit.

DOUGLAS TIRE WINS FROM ARMY TEAM, 4-2

Manager Wally Smith's Douglas Tire softballers made their first appearance of the season at the Caledonia Avenue ball yard and turned back the Army, 4-2, in a seven-inning exhibition affair.

Tiremen, wobbly at the start, settled down and played good ball behind the three-hit pitching performances of "Windmill" Joe Bryant, young flinger.

Sammy Kennedy, of the Army hockey squad, made his season's debut for the troops and worked for three innings. He had a fair amount of speed, but had trouble getting the ball up. During his short sojourn on the hillock, Kennedy gave up a single base hit and one run.

Berman, second soldier flinger, was greeted with a three-run offensive in the fourth frame and then proceeded to close the gate on the tiremen. He gave up a total of six base knocks.

Scores:

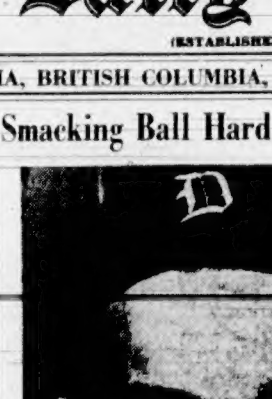
Will Play Tonight



CECIL BLAKEBURN

Plugging halfback of the Victoria Machinery Depot soccer team, who will be on the shipyarders' line-up this evening at Macdonald Park when McColl's proteges oppose the Royal Air Force in the first game of the best-of-three series for the Solarium Trophy donated by Alderman John Worthington. Old Country lads and the V.M.D. staged some grand battles during the season, and followers of the two clubs are looking forward to the cup series. Tonight's game is billed for 6:30 o'clock, with Dave McMillan as referee. Net proceeds from the match will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children. V.M.D. line-up will be chosen from: Evans, Slogar, McGeachy, Harris, Blakeburn, G. Robbins, Sage, Dougan, Bell, Parks, Payne, Morgan, Restall, Reside and Hall.

Champions To Face The Army

Musgrave, Whitney Starting Pitchers

Sharing third berth with the Flyers just two games out of first place, Army baseballers will return to Royal Athletic Park this evening to keep a date with V.M.D., league leaders and defending champions. Game time will be 6:15 o'clock.

Lieut. W. E. Warburton, manager of the soldier nine, announced yesterday that Gerry Whitney, his first-string hurler, will pilot the hillock against the champions. The young righthander was top hurler in the soldier camp last season, but has had a little trouble rounding into shape for the present flag race.

Nick and Don Metz, well-known former National Hockey League players and Army's latest keystone combination, will be in uniform for the troops this evening. They made their Victoria debut last Saturday when they played for the soldiers against the Eagles, lowly cellar occupants.

Coach Laurel Barney plans to send Tommy Musgrave, his speedballer, to the mound against the soldiers. Musgrave is enjoying his best season and has yet to taste defeat this year. Harney will be behind the home plate.

The shipyard workers are heading the pennant race, one full game ahead of the second-place Navy squad, but the bluejackets are looking forward to seeing the soldiers trip up the smart V.M.D. nine this evening.

EXPLANATION TO YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The Strangest Speech—Among the oddest linguistic phenomena are the Mannans of Travancore, India. In centuries past, the mothers of this tribe held the noses of their children so prevent them from pronouncing the nasal sounds of "M" and "N." This was due to a superstitious belief that the correct enunciation of "M" and "N" is unlucky. As a result all Mannans, at the present time, speak their language as though they were afflicted with a perpetual cold. They even pronounce their own tribal name as though it were spelled "Baddads."

Smacking Ball Hard for Detroit Tigers

Higgins today

ONE of the few college boys to make the quick jump into major league baseball with no minor league experience, Michael Franklin "Pinky" Higgins, veteran third sacker of the Detroit Tigers, today is in the thick of the fight for the American League batting championship. A quiet, efficient workman and one of the league's standout third basemen, Higgins graduated from the University of Texas in 1930 and wound up playing for Connie Mack's Athletics the same year. He was farmed out to Dallas and San Antonio in 1931 and then sent to Portland of the Coast League. He soon rejoined the A's and in 1936 he was traded to the Boston Red Sox, and two years later he went to Detroit. Higgins has been the regular Tiger hot-corner guardian since 1939. His batting average for eleven years in the big-time is .295 in 1,439 games. A right-handed hitter, Higgins holds several records. In 1938 he registered twelve successive hits, a major-league mark, and once he hit three homers in a game, a record for third sackers.

Dahlgren Is Top Hitter

Setting Pace in National League

NEW YORK, June 1 (CP).—Babe Dahlgren today had reason to laugh heartily at the numerous clubs which kept passing him down the line as a poor risk. Babe, now playing first base for the Philadelphia Phils, leads the National League in hitting with .368.

Billy Herman, Brooklyn Dodger infielder, slipped from first to third as his average slipped from .356 to .338. Ahead of him, in addition to Dahlgren, is young Stan Musial, of the St. Louis Cardinnals, with a .345 mark.

CHICAGO, June 1 (CP).—Another reigning American League batting leader is on the verge of abdicating, and a Midsummer free-for-all among the crown princes is in store.

This time it's Vern Stephens, the St. Louis Browns' shortstop outfielder, who has departed for the army while pacing the other league hitters by a solid forty-six points. His average was .376.

Last time Ted Williams, of the Boston Red Sox, finished as the American League champion with a .356 average and promptly went into the service.

Principal contenders through yesterday's games are Oris Hockett, Cleveland; Johnny Lindell, New York, and Pinky Higgins and Dick Wakefield, Detroit Tigers. They're the only men over the .300 mark. Hockett is hitting .330, Higgins .319, Lindell .316 and Wakefield .315.

Vernon Stephens Lost to Browns

BOSTON, June 1 (AP).—For a major league manager who started the season with a club rated as a potential champion, Luke Sewell does not appear to be doing any worrying because his St. Louis Browns are holding up all the American League at this comparatively late stage.

Sewell, however, is downcast after the loss of Vernon Stephens, his sensational shortstop, who left the club yesterday to report to his Long Beach, Calif., draft board.

Sewell is far from convinced that he has a chronic second-division club on his hands. "Give any club in the league a streak and it will start bouncing high," he said.

Luke is in violent disagreement with most of the experts who blame the Browns' lowly ranking on his pitching staff's failures.

"Everybody appears to be worrying about my pitchers except me," he said. "They've been all right and they're going to continue so. The real trouble is that the club is not in shape and won't be for a couple of weeks."

WINNIPEG, June 1 (CP).—With the crowd up 8 per cent and the betting 25 per cent over last year, Polo Park's twenty-eight-day meet continued today, with favorites having a little more prominence than they had in the first three days.

Before a crowd of almost 5,000, Pancho, who won the first race, returned the longest price, $11.00 for a $2 straight ticket. Pancho coupled with Thirsk, winner of the second race, made the daily double worth $79.20. The Quinella, Prompt Return and Squam Broom paid $25.10.

Feature race, The Tribune Handicap, was won by Celebrate, with Jockey Gail Smith up. Mistress Plato was second and Brown Carse third in the six and one-half furlong dash.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 1 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, for whom the Chicago Cubs once shelled out $185,000 and three players, says he's had offers from the Browns, the Red Sox and the Athletics to return to major league baseball.

Dean, now a St. Louis radio announcer, pitched for the Lafayette Red Sox of the Indian-Ohio League in the first four innings of an exhibition game last night and helped them to a 4 to 1 victory over the Indianapolis Gold Medals, a semi-pro club.

"I like my radio work—but you never can tell what will happen," he said after the game, in which he fanned four batsmen.

Needless to say, Hitler, himself, had some influence on the promotion of such good relations!

Between 1919 and 1939, one-third of Britain's population of 48,000,000 were re-housed, and when war broke out houses were being built at the rate of 1,000,000 in three years.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE VARIOUS CAUSES OF DIZZINESS

With all symptoms, the first thought of the physician is what is the commonest cause of these particular symptoms. If it is rheumatic symptoms, he thinks first of infected teeth or tonsils, then of cold and dampness, and then about diet. If sugar is found in the urine, he thinks first of diabetes. If an asthmatic attack occurs, he thinks first about chronic bronchitis, then about allergy, then nervousness, and finally shock.

When dizziness is the outstanding symptom, he thinks first about the ear, then the liver, then blood pressure.

Drs. W. J. McNally and E. A. Stuart, Montreal, in Transactions of the American Academy of Opthalmology, state that when dizziness occurs, it should be found out if the dizziness results during movement or while the patient is at rest. Thus a patient may become dizzy when he stoops to put on his shoes in the morning and when he raises his head suddenly. This dizziness comes on during movement. In the normal individual this stooping and raising the head will not cause dizziness, so something is wrong somewhere with the circulation of the blood — ears, blood vessels, heart.

Dizziness occurring while a person is walking along the street with head steady or riding along the street with head steady is thought to be caused by Meniere's disease in which there is too much water (causing pressure) in tissues surrounding balancing canals in the ear.

In 600 consecutive admissions to the Montreal Neurological (nervous diseases) Institute, dizziness was present in 10 per cent.

In what diseases or group of symptoms did dizziness occur? Dizziness occurred in twenty-one of fifty cases of high blood pressure and heart disease and in ten of twenty-three cases of low blood pressure. That is, there were as many cases of dizziness occurring with low as with high blood pressure.

Dizziness was found in eighteen of ninety cases of gall bladder disturbance which is not as many as most of us thought. Dizziness was found in eight of fifty cases of diabetes and in six of twenty-five cases where there was lack of vitamins.

That dizziness may be caused by allergy is now established.

When you or one of your family has dizzy spells, it would be wise when consulting your physician to outline all your symptoms fully, if [illegible]

GRAPHIC GOLF

BY BEST BALL

BACKSWING

Because the right hand has to be constantly watched by the greater number of golfers to see that it does not lift the club up, the illustration above is particularly worth study. Here Bobby Jones is pushing the club back at the start of the upstroke with the left hand. Hands in close to the body, the club is thus taken back straight from the ball and low to the ground for some distance before a further upward sweep carries it in and around. The hands, kept close to the body, make it certain that the club will not be taken back outside the line of flight, also that the right elbow will hover close to the right side where it belongs.

Another advantage of utilizing the left arm to push the club back, is that it induces a complete body turn. As the pressure toward the rear is piled up by the left, the body starts turning with it, to absorb it. This initiates the body pivot which, when carried through to its logical conclusion, will find the back presented to the hole in a full swing. Not only does the routine wind up the bodily power of the stroke, it also induces a relaxed, smooth method of swinging.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

OUTDOOR LIGHTING

Sidelighting adds appeal to many simple snapshots. Backlighting is useful too. And both are safe as long as direct sun rays do not fall on the camera lens.

CAMERA instruction booklets often specify, "In taking snapshots outdoors have the sun at your back."

That is a fine rule for a person who has just purchased a camera and knows nothing of photography. Its purpose, in part, is to insure that direct sunlight does not strike the camera lens when a picture is taken. However, having the sun directly behind the camera does not always lead to the best pictures. Often lighting from one side, or even from in front of the camera, is preferable.

There's just one point to remember in that connection. When the sun is shining directly toward the camera, or from one side, the camera lens must be shaded so that light does not strike it directly. Unless this is done—by means of a lens shade, or by holding a hat or hand so that a shadow falls on the lens—the light may enter the camera and fog the film, or produce what is known as "lens flare."

But once the camera lens is properly shaded, nothing in the way of outdoor picture making is impossible within the general limitations of your camera. Almost any type of lighting, for instance, can be obtained simply by turning the subject in relation to the sun. The attractive child picture above is strongly sidelighted, but by changing the position of the subject, or choosing a slightly different camera position a backlighted picture might easily have been obtained.

Experiment with different outdoor lighting angles. Each has its place. Sidelighting, as in our illustration, produces excellent roundness and modeling. Backlighting—when the sun is shining toward the camera from behind the subject—is often helpful in dramatizing otherwise ordinary subjects.

Playing with light, you'll find, is fun. And when you come to understand it, you'll discover that it's adding more sparkle and vitality to your snapshots.—John van Guilder.

Local Man Promoted

Robert Coupar, of Canada's naval forces, has been promoted to yeoman of signals at an Eastern Canadian port, according to word received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Coupar, 1916 Monteith Street. Both he and his older brother, George, also a signalman, have been on convoy duty.

The reddest star ever photographed was discovered in the constellation of Monoceros.

City and District

Man Missing—Immigration officials reported to police yesterday that Charles Downey, twenty-eight, Scottish, was missing from his vessel.

No Courts — No sessions of the Supreme and County Courts or Supreme Court Chambers will be held today in memory of the late Mr. Justice W. G. McQuarrie.

Seven Fined—Six motorists were each fined $2.50 yesterday in the city police court for various infractions of parking regulations. Another paid a $5 fine for ignoring a traffic control signal.

Is Remanded—W. Leslie, represented by Patrick J. Sinnott, appeared again yesterday in the city police court on charges of obtaining $10 from John E. Brown and $10 from J. Crossman by fraud. He was remanded until next Thursday for trial.

Assault Case—David McKie was found guilty yesterday in the city police court on a charge of assaulting Sergeant John Blackstock with a bed rail at 1319½ Broad Street on May 5, and was sentenced to the time he had already served in jail while awaiting trial. A second charge of assaulting Jack Hammond was withdrawn at the suggestion of Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor.

Car Breaks Window—Fred Chadwick, Gordon Head, reported to police at 12:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon that his automobile smashed two plate glass windows in front of the Standard Furniture Company premises at 737 Yates Street when his foot slipped off the brake and involuntarily pushed down the accelerator. The machine then jumped the curb and proceeded across the sidewalk. One window measured eight by eight feet, and the other was eight feet by three feet six inches.

Horticulturists Hear Archdeacon Connell

At a largely attended meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society held in the City Hall last evening, an interesting address was given by Ven. Archdeacon Robert Connell.

His talk was woven around the derivation of the names of many of British Columbia's wild flowers, particular mention being given to the wild geraniums, saxifrages and maidenhair ferns.

In the monthly competition, awards for lettuce were made to Miss G. Parkinson and A. Veals.

The regrets of the society were expressed by the vice-president, F. E. Boulter, in the departure from the city of Mrs. H. Marshall, who has been an ardent supporter of the society for several years past, and one of the most consistent exhibitors at the society's shows.

Special mention was made of the forthcoming June Flower Show, which will be held on June 25 and 26 in the Crystal Garden. This show is open to all comers and entries are invited from residents of the city and surrounding districts.

Catalogues may be had on application to the secretary, Alderman D. D. McTavish, at 807 Fort Street. As a special attraction at this show, there will be a "home cooking" stall.

Saanich Man Picks First Strawberries

The first strawberries of the year were picked yesterday by E. R. Heal in his three-acre strawberry patch out on East Saanich Road. He gathered half a crate, "and they were very fine large berries, better than those we got last year," he said.

Mr. Heal, who grows loganberries as well as strawberries, expects to harvest only half the crop he picked last year.

"The dry Fall and the hard Winter damaged the plants so we won't get so many berries, but I think they'll grade a bit better," stated the grower.

J. J. Young, of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, brought in the fruit.

Kinkajou Creates Excitement in Oak Bay Homes

MR. and Mrs. T. C. Hayward, 2275 West Thompson Avenue, have their kinkajou (right) back again, a valiant Oak Bay constable has a pair of gloves bearing the teeth marks of an outraged little creature which, like Garbo, wanted only to be alone, but couldn't be because so many people interfered when he set out to get himself a little jam, or a few bananas, or whatever else might be available which the rationeers had overlooked.

Caught in the act of raiding some choice preserves at the home of J. A. de Bourcier, 2625 Burdick Street, Kinky managed to scuttle away to safety. That was Monday morning, the beginning of a grand adventure, Kinky's next appearance was in the small hours of Tuesday morning, at the residence of Mrs. A. A. MacKinnon, 2655 Lansdowne Road, where a screen door had been opened. Seeking to close it in the dark, Mrs. MacKinnon felt a warm, hairy, but utterly unfamiliar hand. She notified the Oak Bay police.

Constable Jack Wilson, arriving shortly, found the marauder had fled. Scouring the neighborhood, he soon came upon an animal which appeared to be a cat but was, in fact, a kinkajou, which the encyclopaedia describes as being an American potto, guchumbi, yellow lemur, honey-bear or Mexican weasel.

Seizing the strange prowler by its tail, Constable Wilson went into reverse, dragging the animal toward the police car. Kinky obliged amicably enough, in reverse, until Wilson attempted to toss him into the car, at which point the officer found himself literally with a wild-cat at his fingertips.

Left to his own devices while Wilson retired to the police station for repairs, Kinky touched off the horn-button on the car. It short-circuited and played a merry tune for several minutes around 2 a.m. before quiet was restored.

That seemed to be about all for the night, with Kinky apparently content to stay in the car. Later yesterday morning there was no trace of Kinky, even though he had been locked in. Rummaging through the car, the constable felt a lump overhead. Investigation revealed a domelight on the floor and Kinky in the roof, snugly settled in the upholstery.

Unable to handle the creature in any other way, the police called upon Inspector W. J. Smith, of the S.P.C.A. (seen above, left), who administered a mild amount of chloroform, but even this he could not do until Police Chief F. C. F. Reston and Constable Dan Doswell lent a hand.

There being no report of any such animal lost or missing, Oak Bay police inquired among the pet shops. In one of these, they learned that a kinkajou had been sold to the Haywards some months ago. Going to that address, they found no one home, but there were comfortable living quarters with which Kinky seemed to be quite familiar. So they left him there, which, as it all turned out, was just the thing to do.

The Haywards reported last night that Kinky seemed quite content and none the worse for a diet of upholstery, jam, horn-buttons, policemen's gloves and chloroform. The police, however, continue to argue as to whether their antagonist is a honey bear or a Mexican weasel. It seems that much depends on the mood he's in.

Ganges Officer Wins Promotion

Patrick Donovan Crofton, Ganges, Salt Spring Island, who went overseas as a lieutenant with the P.P.C.L.I. three years ago, has been promoted to the rank of captain, according to word received by his family.

He is the third son of the late Fred Crofton and Mrs. Crofton. Now twenty-nine years of age, he was in charge of the platoon of The Canadian Scottish Regiment which left Salt Spring Island at the outbreak of war, and afterwards transferred to the P.P.C.L.I.

His brother, Major D. G. Crofton, has been overseas two years with the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish, and his brothers-in-law, Lt. G. F. Shove and P.O. Fred A. E. Morris, R.C.N.V.R., are now stationed on the West Coast, Lt. Shove having been overseas for two years on active service.

Hanging Baskets to Be Placed Shortly

The chairman of the city parks committee, Alderman D. D. McTavish, said yesterday that the hanging baskets for downtown streets are about ready for placing, and will be hung on the lampposts within a few days.

In accordance with arrangements made earlier in the year, the maintenance of the baskets will be undertaken by storekeepers along the streets where the baskets are hung, and not by the parks department as in previous years.

The baskets this year are in exceptionally good condition and should prove a great attraction to the citizens and visitors during the Summer season, the alderman said.

New Agency Will Handle Potatoes

The British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board announced in Vancouver yesterday that it will establish its own agency for the marketing of potatoes and other vegetables on Vancouver Island, the Lower Mainland and in the Cariboo district.

Private firms formerly handled the crops and Earl McKay, board manager, claimed that, as the new agency was a non-profit organization, the change should mean greater gains for the growers.

A. E. Hull, president of the Potato Growers' Association of Vancouver Island South, said last night the news would be welcome to his group and said he felt that the board had been instrumental in the past in keeping prices up and in spreading supplies.

Mr. Hull said that acreage has been considerably increased and there would be ample supplies of potatoes for all of Vancouver Island, perhaps even the Mainland.

Other growers interviewed believed the board's agency would help conditions, but some said it would be much simpler for farmers to market their own produce. Several stated that they did not wish to register with the board and therefore were debarred from selling potatoes. This, they maintained, was a restriction unfair to growers and to the public.

An official of one growers' association declared: "Farmers should be allowed to grow and sell what they please on their own land; it would go a long way toward relieving the scarcity."

Gordon Head A.R.P. To Establish Post

The first aid post to be established by the Gordon Head A.R.P. in the home of Mrs. C. F. Griffin, Gordon Head Road, will be partially equipped with four new hospital beds, complete with pillows and mattresses that have been donated by R. Bradshaw. It was announced at a recent meeting of the organization.

This post will supplement the five first aid points already equipped. Householders in the district will be asked to donate toward the securing of other items required to equip the post.

United States-China Treaty Ratified

Secretary of State Cordell Hull (right) and Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-Ming in Washington, D.C., put their signatures on the documents ratifying the United States-Chinese treaty whereby the United States gives up extra-territorial "rights" in China. The treaty became effective with the exchange of ratifications. Great Britain also has surrendered its extra-territorial "rights" in China.

Saanich Council Will Investigate Sewage Problem

Ground Mired in Gorge Road Area

The sewer problem in Saanich arose again last night during the municipal council meeting when a complaint was made by Alfred S. Powell, and found justifiable by the sanitary inspector, that sewage from dwellings in the vicinity of Gorge and Harriet Roads has made it impossible to conduct work on his property on Harriet Road.

He stated that the ground was so mired that a bulldozer being used on the property, which he intends to subdivide, could not operate effectively. W. W. Shorrock, sanitary inspector, reported measures had been suggested by owners of the property from which the sewage is discharged, but that they were of a temporary character. The question was laid on the table, and will be investigated by a committee to report to the council.

Criticism of the building by-law was made at the meeting by an army captain from Gordon Head O.T.C., now living in a tent on property bought by himself, who had been asked to discontinue the quarters. The tent is situated in a zoned area.

He said he had recently returned from overseas, a casualty, and that he would be leaving here within a month. The camp was overcrowded, he said, and there was no place else to live. He said the by-law was not aiding the war effort, in that building materials were scarce and needed elsewhere.

FEAR TENT CITY IN SAANICH

"If we allow this, others will be living in tents," Councillor J. L. Hobbs told the council. "We might as well throw out our building and sanitation by-laws and fire the inspectors."

Councillor Richmond held the opinion that if all returned men could not find accommodation and began to live in tents there would soon be a tent city in Saanich. The problem will be referred to the municipal solicitor.

The labor problem has affected garbage collection in inner wards, and the council will take additional steps to have F. A. Edwards, former garbage collector now in the forces, returned temporarily. Mr. Edwards did the work on contract, and relatives who are carrying on the business have been unable to secure help. According to W. A. Greene, municipal clerk, many complaints have been received from residents who claim their garbage has not been collected for several months.

The building committee will investigate the request of D. S. Morrison, McKenzie Avenue, who desires to build a chicken house less than 150 feet from the nearest property line.

The resignation of Morris H. Allison from the fire department was accepted.

Suggests Province Start Oil Drilling

T. D. Pattullo, M.P.P. for Prince Rupert, commenting on the oil situation in British Columbia, yesterday issued the following statement:

"Premier John Hart is quoted as stating upon his return from Ottawa that there is a promising oil structure in Northern British Columbia known as the Lone Mountain, situate southeast of Commotion Creek. That the Dominion Government would not go into the oil business, but made a proposal upon behalf of the oil companies. That the Dominion and the oil companies have not decided to proceed under the regulations which had been formulated.

"Oil is increasingly necessary every day. I suggest to Premier Hart and his Government that they revise their policy and start drilling on the Province's own account with as little delay as possible. Already there has been a year's delay. If the prospects were good enough to submit to Ottawa, they are good enough for British Columbia to tackle.

"These unalienated areas should be reserved and developed for the benefit of the people as a whole and development should proceed forthwith, not only as a war measure but as a permanent asset. I am certain that the members of the Legislature would very much approve of the Government going ahead without waiting for the next sitting of the Legislature."

Increase Shown Here In City Land Revenue

Cash receipts of the City Council's lands department from sales and rentals totaled $11,411 last month, compared with $7,879 in May, 1942. Receipts since the beginning of the year were $48,109, as against $51,091 during the first five months of 1942.

Thirteen parcels of property were sold for $4,725 last month, and since the beginning of the year eighty-three have been disposed of for $21,985, compared with sixty-five sales, which netted $31,695 during the first five months of 1942.

SAANICH RATEPAYERS

The newly formed Saanich Ratepayers' Association will hold a meeting at the Coast Hardware Hall, 1418 Douglas Street, tomorrow at 8 p.m., when it will study plans to bring about, at the earliest possible date, the abolition of the present ward system in Saanich.

Lake Bathing Is Prohibited

No bathing will be permitted at Elk or Beaver Lakes this year, according to an agreement between the Department of National Defence for Air and the City Council. The department plans to use water from Elk Lake and specifically requested the council to prevent swimming in both lakes.

In a letter received at the City Hall yesterday, the Saanich Council registered a protest against the ban on Beaver Lake bathing.

"Springs feeding Elk Lake are in the north end and the flow of water is from north to south through Beaver Lake to the Colquitz Creek outlet," the letter pointed out.

At a meeting of the City Council on Monday, attention was given to a petition from ninety-five persons requesting aldermen to allow bathing at Beaver Lake. Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the water board, pointed out the agreement prevented the council from granting such permission.

Employees Urged To Register Now

"We would like to tell employees and employers alike that there are only two weeks before the deadline for the second compulsory transfer order, and that they should report as soon as possible," W. G. Stone, local selective service officer, said yesterday, adding that registration was very slow, and that it was feared there would be a rush during the last week.

Officials expect between two and three hundred men will be affected by the second order, and very few have so far reported; there will be considerable delay in registering if all leave it to the last week, officials said.

"Early reporting gives us a better chance to place a man satisfactorily," said this official, "but he may be sent back to his job with permission to remain there indefinitely."

Collection of Taxes Shows Gain in City

Advance payments on account of current taxes totaled $624,530 at the City Hall at the end of May, compared with $641,331 received during the first five months of 1942.

On account of taxes in arrears, the sum of $46,218 was received, as against $57,340 collected during the first five months of 1942.

Interest at the rate of 8 per cent is allowed until October on taxes paid before the date they nominally fall due.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP).—Selective investment demand persisted in today's stock market, especially for issues in the peace category, but many steels, rails, aircrafts and others with an armament rating were neglected.

Motors, oils, tobaccos and assorted blue chips rose fractions to two or more points, many to new highs [illegible] but gains were important start. While losers were numerous at the close, plus marks were in the majority.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks finished with a net gain of 1 of a point at 52.1, best level since January 3, 1940. Of 900 individual issues traded, 371 were up, 305 down and 224 unchanged. There was a revival in low-priced utilities at the last and large blocks of these helped put the day's volume at 1,259,600 shares against 1,047,729 last Friday.

Chicago Great Western preferred joined the "new high" class with an advance of 1-2 at 20 7-8 when directors voted a dividend of $1.25 on this stock, compared with 62 1-2 cents paid in March.

Others at peaks for the year or longer included General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Goodrich, Texas Co., R-K-O, Reynolds Tobacco, Philip Morris, Johns-Manville, Du Pont and Westinghouse. In front were Commonwealth & Southern, International Harvester, Standard Oil (N.J.), Liggett & Myers "B," Libby McNeill, Dow Chemical and Wilson Co.

Among losers were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, Eastman Kodak, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft and Glenn Martin.

Industrial Plants Foremen-Craftsmen Confer at Parley

VANCOUVER, June 1 (CP).—Job methods training to make full use of skills and equipment available in war production plants in British Columbia was discussed at a conference held today under the aegis of the British Columbia Provincial Government.

Foreman-craftsmen from ten industrial plants on the Lower Mainland took part in the discussion. Similar conferences will be held in other construction centres in British Columbia.

Initiated by the Federal Department of Labor and continued in British Columbia by the Provincial Departments of Labor and Education, the project already has shown results in increased efficiency and production.

H. A. Jones, provincial inspector of technical classes, has charge in this province.

Object of the system is to co-ordinate skills and "job relations" to eliminate waste of craftsmanship and mechanical output.

Knowledge and experience is pooled, foremen and leading hands are brought together in exchange of ideas and short cuts. Technical education is made available to workers who will study them. Production is increased by saving time, energy and materials.

Object of the course is to make it possible for them to work more effectively.

Local Wholesale Produce Market

The first cantaloupe of the season are due to arrive from California today and a small shipment of bananas will arrive this week-end, according to wholesale officials.

California oranges and grapefruit will be very scarce for the next six months. Local gooseberries are now available.

A shipment of new potatoes is expected today. Although cars have been arriving every other day or so, they continue to be extremely scarce. Asparagus is also a little on the short side. Local peas will soon appear on the market.

Gulf Islands Farmers

At a directors meeting of the Gulf Islands Farmers' Institute and Fruit Growers' Association held recently at the Community Hall, Fulford, with the president, R. B. Littlefair, in the chair, the following resolution, which it was decided to forward to the proper headquarters, was passed: "That the Gulf Islands be included in the deficiency area for the slaughter of farm animals."

The resignation of the secretary-treasurer, E. V. Bettiss, owing to the pressure of other work, was heard and regretfully accepted. Tenders for this vacant position will be read at the next directors meeting, to be held at the Mahon Hall, Ganges, on June 30.

NURSES GOOD WALKERS

LONDON (CP). — Sir Geoffrey Shakespeare told this story of a nursing sister when a bill giving a definite status to qualified assistant nurses was read a third time in the Commons. Using a pedometer, she found that on an average she walked never less than nine and sometimes as much as thirteen miles each day in the same corridor.
